THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

A Proclamation for the Washington Centennial.

THE PRESIDENT TO TAKE A TRIP

Ex Secretary Endicott Talks About the Drudgery Imposed on the Executive—The Oregon Office-Seekers—Appointments—Etc

WASHINGTON, April —The following proclamation was issued this afternoon by the president of the United States of America

A hundred years have passed since the government which our forefathers founded was formally organized. At noon on the 30th day of April, 1789, in the city of New York and in the presence of an assemblage of heroic men, whose patriotic devotion had led the colonies to victory and independence, George Washington took the oath of office as chief magistrate of the new born republic This impressive act was preceded at 9 o clock in the morning in all of the churches of the city by prayer for God s blessing on the government and its first president

The centennial of this illustrious event in our history has been declared a general holiday by an act of congress, to the end that the people of the whole country may join in commemorative exercises appropriate to the day In order that the joy of the occasion may be associated with deep thankfulness in the minds of the people for all of our blessings in the past, and devout supplication to God for their gracious continuance in the future, the representatives of religious creeds both Christian and Hebrew, have memorialized the government to designate an hour for prayer and thanksgiving on that day

Now therefore I Benjamin Harrison president of the United States of America, in response to this pious and reasonable request do recommend that Tuesday, April 30, at the hour of 9 o clock in the morning, the people of the entire country repair to their respective places of divine worship to implore the favor of God that the blessings of liberty, prosperity and peace may abide with us as a people, and that his hand may lead us in paths of righteousness and good deeds

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my name and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed

Done in the city of Washington on the 4th day of April in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty nine, and the independence of the United States the one hundred and thirteenth BENJAMIN HARRISON President.
JAMES G BLAINE
Secretary of State

THE PRESIDENT'S PLANS.

He Has Determined to Take a Few Days of Rest and Recreation.

WASHINGTON, April 5—The president has determined to take a few days of rest and recreation outside of Washington as soon as he can without sacrificing public interests. He has been under a severe strain mentally and physically for the last eight months, and it is beginning to tell on his health His friends say that his physicians have advised him to take a short respite from official duties and he has promised to do so at the first favorable opportunity He made some inquiries about a trip to Fort Monroe, and rumor was soon started that he was going to take a cruise in Chesapeake bay on a revenue cutter His departure was fixed by rumor for to-morrow, and Fort Monroe was his destination

An inquiry at the White house this afternoon showed that there was no truth in the report, so far as this week is concerned It is, however, very probable that the president will leave the city for a few days by the end of the week, but it is not likely that any definite arrangement as to the destination or means of transportation will be made for several days yet

THE PRESIDENT'S BURDENS.

Secretary Endicott Talks About the Drudgery Imposed Upon Him.

WASHINGTON, April 5—Ex-Secretary Endicott, in company with his successor, Secretary Proctor called on the president this afternoon He afterwards talked quite freely with a reporter

He said that he felt relieved at being once more a private citizen, and added The president does not seem to be looking very well he evidently needs rest The American people put too much of a strain on the president The work ought to be delegated, and the time is near at hand when it will have to be Our great need is a more extended civil service This is the only government where there is a scramble for office It is undignified and unpatriotic, and until the tenure is made secure and places are filled with good men the president will be overburdened Look at England there is a free government, and there men who desire to enter the employ of the government are tested thoroughly If found competent they are offered every inducement to stay in the service Within the life time of the generation now being born there will be in this country an army of officials 300,000 strong Then civil service reform will be a necessity, and then the president will have to be relieved of his drudgery of appointments by the heads of departments, and because no one man will be able to do the work The reform would not commence too soon, if it were put into operation at once

THE OREGON DELEGATION.

They Have Not Been Able to Agree Upon the Four Principal Federal Offices

WASHINGTON April 5—It is now stated that the Oregon delegation have not been able to unite on the names to fill four of the principal federal offices in that state The same trouble exists in Oregon as in all of the states. There are more candidates for office than there are offices to fill

The four offices in Oregon, for which the delegation have not thus far been able to agree upon the candidates, are collector of customs at the port of Portland, collector of customs at the port of Astoria, postmaster at Portland and United States district attorney for Oregon There are two or more candidates for each of these offices, and it is said that a bitter fight is being waged for them

The Oregon delegation however is still at work, and they hope in a few days to be able to come to an agreement which will be eminently satisfactory to all concerned.

At the office of the firm no person could be found to give the slightest information of the cause of the failure. The general understanding was, however, that the firm's endeavors to control the trade had increased its expenses while the profits were diminished and low prices prevailed.

Assignee Miller learned from Downs that the liabilities were between $400,000 and $500 000, and that the assets, judiciously handled, would exceed all of the liabilities

HER HUSBAND WAS AN ADULTERER.

The Partner of His Illicit Amour Admits Her Infamy on the Witness Stand—How Maggie Discovered Their Improper Relations

NEW YORK April 5—The Tribune s special from Trenton N J says A divorce has been granted Maggie Mitchell, the actress, from her husband, Henry T Paddock by Chancellor McGill, the decree having just been filed The evidence in the case was taken in New Jersey and New York, and the complainant s main charge was adultery on the part of her husband in 1882 and 1884 with one Minnie E Moore, who was then living in Syracuse.

Maggie Mitchell about a year and a half ago, found a letter addressed to her husband She thought it was a business letter and was shocked at its contents It was written by Minnie Moore, whom she subsequently met in Syracuse with the letter and who acknowledged that she had been intimate with Paddock and furnished Miss Mitchell with what the latter considered convincing proofs of her husband s infidelity Thus Miss Mitchell instituted proceedings for divorce

Paddock filed an answer to her bill of complaint, denying adultery but failed to take the witness stand in the case

Minnie Moore said, under oath, that Paddock had been intimate with her Both she and her mother testified that they did not know Paddock was a married man until 1884.

It was put in evidence that there was collusion between her and Paddock to secure a divorce

Maggie Mitchell says she married Paddock in 1867, and said she lived with him until the discovery of the Minnie Moore letter She was a true and faithful wife, and had supported him out of her means She had frequently heard charges affecting his character but did not put any faith in them until Minnie Moore told her story

LORD LONSDALE'S EXPERIENCE.

He is Known to Have Left the Cold Regions and Arrived at Kodiak.

PHILADELPHIA, April 5—The Inquirer to-morrow will say Lord Lonsdale, recently reported dead in the Arctic regions, is on his way home to England again A letter received at Bethlehem from Mr Wolf a Moravian missionary, stationed at Nushegak Alexander on Bristol Bay Alaska, in latitude 59 degrees north, 158 degrees west longitude says that Lonsdale arrived at the Nushagak mission December 11 of last year, after a long and tedious journey of 4000 miles overland from Bank's Land, in latitude 75 degrees north This was the farthest point north that he reached. He remained at the mission until January 14. The country he had traversed from Banks Land was rough and open and the snow was terribly drifted. Most of the journey was made on foot The dogs barely managed to drag the camp outfit and provisions. On the 1st of December the thermometer registered 100 degrees below the freezing point. Terrible blizzards swept across the country continually and the most strenuous efforts were necessary to keep the party from being scattered and frozen to death

Lord Lonsdale estimates that he traveled by dog sled and on foot about 10,000 miles from Winnipeg in a little more than a year In the Hudson s Bay region, where the snow and ice were smooth, the dogs frequently carried them over 40 miles a day

He left the mission at Nushagak, January 14, and with a dog train started across the peninsula to Katmai, on the North Pacific From here he crossed to Kodiac on Kodiac island, where there is a whaling station The earl sent word that he would sail for England at once, but no news has been received of his arrival at any American port, and it is possible that he has turned whaler to get some new experiences

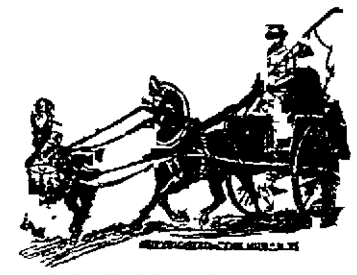
PORTLAND TANDEM CLUB.

So much interest has lately been evinced in the New York Tandem Club that it is proposed by some of Portland's leading patrons of the road to introduce this fashionable mode of driving into our city In connection with the Tandem Club of New York there are many amusing incidents chronicled of the peculiar antics of the leader when driven by a novice in the art of tandem. One of these fashionable turnouts is here illustrated.



For the benefit of those who propose to adopt this latest craze it may be stated that Messrs. FATAL RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

A Well Known Polk County Lady Thrown From a Buggy and Killed

INDEPENDENCE, Or., April 5.—Mrs. J. W. Masterson, a highly esteemed resident of this county, met with a fatal accident at her home near Monmouth, two and a half miles west of this city, at 4 o'clock last evening. She was returning in a one-horse buggy from a visit to one of her neighbors when the animal she was driving became frightened and ran away. After running a short distance the buggy was overturned by running against a tree. Mrs. Masterson fell on her head and shoulders, rendering her unconscious. She lingered five hours, and expired about 10 P. M., without regaining consciousness. Her death has cast a gloom over the entire community.

FROM WALLA WALLA.

An Attempt to Divert Business From Portland—Local Notes

WALLA WALLA, W. T., April 5.—The commissions of Governor Miles C. Moore and Secretary O. C. White arrived this morning from Washington. These gentlemen expect to leave for Olympia Monday to assume their duties.

Messrs. L. B. Rinehart of Union, S. L. Kingle of Summerville, F. J. McDaniels of Cove, and W. T. Carroll, of La Grande, Or., were here to-day to consult with the O. & W. T. officials with reference to the extension of that road to the Grand Ronde valley, and left this afternoon for Tacoma to solicit aid and raise the remainder of the required bonus of $185,000, $150,000 of which is already raised. They claim that if the road were built to that valley nineteen-twentieths of the freight output would go to Puget sound. Last year [illegible]600 cars of freight were shipped to Portland from La Grande alone. They are representative men of that section, and well supplied with facts and data. They claim to have received considerable encouragement from Tacoma and Seattle.

Our orchards are a wonderful sight to see with their wealth of bloom, finer and more promising than ever before. The Walla Walla valley never presented so charming an aspect, or a sight fuller of promise. The weather is superb, showers almost nightly.

William Kirkman and associates this week shipped twelve cars of fine cattle and sheep to Portland and Sound cities. The cattle were stall fed—a new industry here.

This evening, Paul Gafney was thrown out of his wagon during a runaway and badly hurt about the head. The extent of his injuries is unknown at present.

FROM SALEM

A Convict Tries to Commit Suicide—Incorporations—Etc

SALEM, April 5.—A prisoner at the penitentiary named Hankins, a ten year man sent from Portland in 1886 on a charge of assault with intent to kill his wife, tried to-day to drown himself in Mill creek, inside the walls. He had refused to work in the foundry and was taken to the chapel for discipline. Returning from the chapel, he ran for the creek and jumped in. The guards leisurely followed, giving him plenty of time to drown if he wanted to, but the cold bath seemed to bring back his desire for life, and he crawled out.

Another prisoner named McDermott stuck his foot in a vessel of boiling water, with intent to disable himself. He now works in his stocking feet.

In the secretary of state's office to-day articles of incorporation were filed by the West Portland Park Association; L. J. Howes, T. F. Ferris and J. E. Bennett, incorporators; principal office, Portland; capital stock, $80,000. Also by the City and West Portland Park Motor Company; E. J. Howes, T. F. Ferris and J. E. Bennett incorporators; principal office, Portland; capital stock, $50,000.

Dr. W. D. Jeffries has been appointed to take the place of Dr. W. H. Byrd as physician at the penitentiary and accepted.

FROM SEATTLE.

More About the Mysterious Poisoning of Connellan—Etc.

SEATTLE, April 5.—Thomas Hopkins, who was the companion of M. T. Connellan, found dead in jail last night, was arrested early this morning. No particular charge was preferred against Hopkins, but it was thought that if it was established that murder had been committed it would be better to have him at the disposal of the officers. The inquest was begun to-night and it developed that Connellan had been drunk for several days. He was at the California lodging house during last evening and drank a good deal. No important testimony was elicited, nor any that seemed to imply that Connellan had been poisoned. The autopsy on the remains was partly held by Dr. Smith, who found no traces of organic disease. The physician is of opinion that Connellan was poisoned. The stomach will be examined to-morrow. S. H. Byron, manager of the Portland branch office by which Connellan was employed, arrived in this city to-night.

John Maguire, a coal heaver, to-day tried to jump on a moving freight train. He fell under the truck, and his left arm was taken off at the shoulder.

The most important measure passed during the session was the Canadian Western Central Railway bill, giving the company about 12,000,000 acres of provincial land as a subsidy, to build a line of railway from the terminus of the E. & N. railway at Nanaimo to the eastern boundary.

A Chinaman was returned to Seattle by the steamer Olympian this morning. He arrived here on Thursday night and attempted to land by presenting a forged certificate in lieu of the $50 head tax.

CALIFORNIA CROP PROSPECTS.

Favorable Reports From Every Section of the State

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Telegraphic reports from all parts of the state show that grain, fruit and feed promise a greater yield than has ever been known, independently of the fact that the increase in acreage is as high in some sections as one-third, especially in the Southern counties of California. The rain yesterday and to-day was quite general, and especially heavy in some sections, where the rainfall is usually highest. A very large number of young fruit trees have been set out in the Southern and Northern portions of the state and many thousand grape vines in the Fresno raisin district, all of which have been benefited by the late rains.

The growth of cereals in the state has been so rapid, consequent upon the warm weather of the winter, the absence of frosts and the timely rains of the spring, that the only fear now is that the grain will fall down before harvest time from overgrowth. The entire absence of discouraging reports from any part of the state and the general prospect of large crops everywhere are the most important facts to be noted just now. Much still depends now upon the late rains. It will be remembered that in the last days of March, a year ago, the crop prospects were almost as promising as this year. At that date there were no unfavorable reports. But the late rains were withheld and the cereal crops were parched off over a considerable area. In the short six weeks after the 20th of March of last year the prospects had been greatly changed on account of the entire cessation of the late rains.

The cold weather of the winter a year ago had kept back the grain crops, so that they were unusually late. The warm weather of the past season has advanced all the cereals, so that they are at least two weeks ahead of such crops at the corresponding date of last year. If, therefore, the rains were to stop suddenly, as they did a year ago, it is almost certain that the cereal crops would turn out better than last year. In some of the warm valleys the wheat is already heading out.

SAN FRANCISCO WATER SUPPLY.

A Project to Bring It From the Sierra Nevada Mountains

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—"The supply of water in San Francisco is inadequate to the demand," said Colonel William J. Wiesey, of this city, to-day. "Had it not been for this long season of rain," said he, "the reservoirs would shortly have been exhausted, with a water famine as the result. This city uses 18,000,000 gallons of water a day, Oakland uses 6,000,000 gallons. The people pay, I think, 18 cents for 1000 gallons. The company supplying the water offers to sell to the city the entire plant, rights, etc., for $[illegible]0,000,000. The water can be put in here and used for $6,500,000.

"I have the right to the finest water, eighty million gallons a day, in the state, indeed on the coast. It is the south fork of the American River and comes from the Sierra Nevadas. We have a canal to within sixteen miles of Sacramento. The piping to the city would not cost over $1,500,000. The city can purchase the entire right to eighty million gallons of water a day, a tract of land of five thousand acres and the canal for $1,[illegible]00,000. The putting of the water into the houses would not cost over $6,500,000, and the city would have a supply of water sufficient for a million and a half of population. The cost to the people would be reduced to 7 cents per 1000 gallons. The city could be bonded for the amount of the purchase by creating a sinking fund, from which it could be clear in twelve years.

"I am ready to accept the city's bond for the sum and will present my water rights, which are indisputable, to the supervisors at their next meeting. Oakland could be supplied from the pipes to this city and the city would make money in buying the rights. If I cannot dispose of them in San Francisco, a corporation will be formed to supply water at one half less than is paid for it now."

SPRING VALLEY WATER COMPANY.

A Protest Against the Recent Order of the Supervisors

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—The Spring Valley Water Company, in a complaint in equity, filed in the superior court to-day against the city and board of supervisors, has denied the validity of the water order passed by the board of supervisors on February 28 last and asks that the order be declared null and void, that it be decreed that plaintiff is entitled to have such water rates fixed that will yield a sufficient annual income to pay interest on its indebtedness, its running expenses and taxes and to plaintiff's stockholders dividends of 7 per cent per annum on the par value of their stock.

The complaint states that under the order the yearly income of the company can not possibly exceed $7,500,000, which would be wholly inadequate to pay its expenses. Its property is valued at $25,000,000, on which there is a mortgage of $9,000,000. Operating expenses last year will amount to $390,000.

The complaint states that the water order was not passed according to law, as the company was not properly notified of the change. To furnish the additional meters required by the late order of the board would cost the company about $250,000.

THE SCHOOL FUND.

San Francisco Wrestling With an Alarming Deficiency.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—The direct result of the dishonesty of Census Marshal Hildebrandt last year is now apparent in the extraordinary deficiency of the school fund. Owing to the almost criminal methods of collecting the census, the state apportionment was reduced $131,505. The last board of supervisors also insisted on cutting down the estimated appropriation by $80,470. The department anticipated receiving $690,000 from the state, but only obtained from the state $568,494. This represents the bulk of the deficiency. Secretary Beanston calculates that the whole deficit will amount to about $150,000 by July 1, the end of the present fiscal year.

So depleted are the funds that the teachers will only be able to get their March and part of their April salaries. What will be done during the rest of the term is not known, but it may be necessary to adjourn the schools. The only hope lies in the board of supervisors, which may place to the credit of the department, if it so desires, about $100,000, surplus in the general fund. This money would not be available, however, before July 1, but would suffice to keep the department from bankruptcy.

CALIFORNIA NEWS ITEMS.

Filed a Petition for a Rehearing.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Calvin Pratt, the bank check forger, who was sentenced to fourteen years' imprisonment by Judge Murphy, filed a petition for a rehearing of the appeal to-day in the supreme court. He claims that want of jurisdiction exists on the part of the lower court, inasmuch as the request made by Governor Stoneman to the Japanese government for the possession of the defendant, which request was complied with, constituted an agreement between this state and the foreign government, and such agreements are specially prohibited by the constitution.

An Illegal Measure

LOS ANGELES, April 5.—Assemblyman Dameron will leave for San Francisco to-morrow to try to prevent the cattle quarantine bill from being printed as one of the statutes of the state. The bill was signed by the governor, but has not passed the house. It operates against the dealers in the southern part of the state, but is favored by those of the north. It is proposed to serve an injunction on the state printer to prevent the publication of the illegal measure.

PROFESSOR HILGARD WILL REMAIN

An Advance in His Salary Decides Him Not to Leave the California University

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—The board of regents of the State university held a meeting at Berkeley this week for the purpose of discussing an advance in Professor Hilgard's salary. Professor Hilgard had been offered the position of first assistant of the department of agriculture so suddenly that he did not have sufficient time to contemplate all that the acceptance of the offer would involve. The board of regents accordingly at their meeting refused to grant Professor Hilgard's request for a year's leave of absence. The reason for doing so was that they did not know what would become of the agricultural department of the State university in his absence. It was decided at the meeting to do everything possible to make things agreeable for the professor, and an advance in his salary from $[illegible] to $4000 was unanimously voted.

Professor Hilgard has decided to remain with the university. He has already received a large number of letters congratulating both the state and himself on his final decision.

AGAINST THE INSURANCE COMPANY

Judge Sawyer Decides in Favor of the Stockton Agricultural Works

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—The Manchester Fire Assurance Company lost its case against the Stockton Combined Harvest and Agricultural works in the circuit court this morning. The works were insured in thirteen insurance companies for $[illegible]. When the place was destroyed by fire an adjustment was made whereby defendants agreed to accept $93,000 in settlement of their claim. After this agreement, however, the assurance company thought it had been swindled and filed a bill in equity, and the other twelve companies followed suit, holding that the matter had been settled under misrepresentation, and the end obtained by fraud. Judge Sawyer dismissed the bill and the Manchester Assurance company will have to pay the insurance.

LICENSES MUST BE PAID

An Important Decision by Judge Murphy of the Supreme Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Superior Judge Murphy rendered a decision this morning on the liability of foreign railroad companies to pay licenses. The case was the people vs. J. G. McCall. McCall was agent for the New York & Erie road and solicited the passenger business in this city. He did not sell tickets, but took people to the Southern Pacific office where transportation was secured over the lines he represented. He was convicted of violating the order of the board of supervisors which exacts $25 from every railroad agency. He appealed, claiming that the order was illegal.

Judge Murphy decided that the order was legal and he must pay a license.

A DEMOCRATIC ROW.

Rioting at Primaries Between Hill and Cleveland Men.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 5.—Cohoes has been in the hands of a mob all day, and to-night the condition of affairs is unchanged, with drunken brawlers and the excited adherents of the two factions still excitedly discussing the situation.

The democratic primaries, to nominate a supervisor, alderman and a city ticket, were held to-day. On one side was the Cleveland following, with Postmaster Larkin in immediate command. On the other was the Hill following, with Major Garside in command.

The rioting was confined to three wards. In the other two, the Larkin regulators had things their own way. The Larkin men had the inspectors, and the Garside men had the police. The latter were present at the polls in force. Civilians sworn in as special police were left in control of station houses.

In one of the wards, after the regulars had admitted a watcher of the other side to the polling place, one of the police endeavored to force his way in. He was warned to desist, but battered in the door with a sledge-hammer. He was struck on the head with a piece of lead pipe, a hole was cut through his cheek, and he fell back covered with blood. Then a riot began. Pistols, knives and clubs were used. The ballot box was smashed, and both sides claimed the victory. No one was fatally injured except the policeman.

While this was transpiring a policeman in another ward endeavored to force his way into the polling place and was badly beaten.

In another a policeman battered a man over the head, inflicting fatal injuries.

Small fights were of constant occurrence. A dozen men are reported seriously, if not fatally disabled. Factional feeling runs so high that it is impossible to secure reliable news. Two democratic city tickets and two democratic candidates in each ward will be the result of the day's doing.

RIVER AND MARINE NEWS.

Port Captain Troup Out of Town—There Are at Present Only Twelve Vessels in Port

Port Captain J. W. Troup is absent on a trip to the Snake river on business pertaining to the O. R. & N. Co.'s river traffic. A number of new warehouses are among the improvements contemplated by the company to meet the demands of its rapidly increasing business and Captain Troup will make some observations as to the best points for locating steamer docks for such purposes.

There are at present twelve vessels in port. The C. S. Hulbert has cleared at the custom house and left for Astoria. The British bark Shalmear from New Castle is expected to-day or to-morrow. She is loaded with coal. The registered tonnage in port is nearly 14,000 tons.

The steamer State of California left on her regular trip for San Francisco last night, having on board a cargo of over 1000 tons weight, in addition to its usual quota of passengers. Thirty-eight tons of paper are noted among the other consignments of freight.

The Astorian reports the temporary break down of the Improvement while passing the Soapstone bar. She was towed to port for repairs by the Walluski, and is again in gear and running in ship-shape.

GOING TO OKLAHOMA.

What One Individual Has To Say About That Region.

In front of a railroad ticket office on Front street was yesterday displayed a placard calling for four men to make up a party of twenty to go to Oklahoma.

"Where in thunder is Oklahoma, anyhow?" asked a passer.

The ticket agent pointed out the country in the center of the Indian territory.

"Well, what is the matter with the place? Is it a heaven on earth that people are leaving Oregon to go there?"

"It is a pretty good country," said a bystander, "and about the only good land open for settlement in that region. People from Kansas and Nebraska and the East are pouring in there in droves, to get out of the blizzard blasted cyclone-circumvented country. There is lots of better land in Eastern Oregon and Washington, where settlers do not have to fight for it either. A man who leaves this country for Oklahoma is a fool."

"That settles it," said the anxious inquirer, "I can't go to Oklahoma."

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

The Pre-Emption Law

GOOSEBERRY, Morrow Co., April 4.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Was the pre-emption right repealed by the last congress? And were any of the other rights heretofore offered to settlers repealed? W. S. F.

[The law repealed by the last congress was that clause providing that lands should be sold at private cash entry. The pre-emption law and commutation clause of the homestead law and all other laws relating to the taking up of public lands by citizens of the United States still remain in force.]

The High License Law

DAYVILLE, Or., April 4.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Please inform me if the Layman high license law is now in force. W. B. D.

[Judge Catlin, of Multnomah county, has held that it is. THE OREGONIAN thinks this opinion if appealed from, would not be sustained by the supreme court.]

A VAST SEA OF FLAME

The Dakota Prairie Fires Worse Than First Reported.

THE DEATH LIST IS INCREASING

Many People Left Homeless on the Blackened Plains, Barely Escaping With Their Lives—The Flames Fanned by the Gale

HURON, Dak., April 5.—The prairie fire was more destructive and calamitous than was at first supposed. The revised list of deaths is as follows: Miss Anna Sweeney, Mrs. Thomas Hibbs and boy of 4 years, Mrs. Jessup, Mrs. Bailey and two boys; the names not given. Several others are severely burned. Fifteen families are left homeless and penniless, and over fifty have suffered serious losses. Several persons are missing, and it is feared that they are burned.

IT WAS NO ORDINARY FIRE

YANKTON, Dak., April 5.—According to the stories of the farmers who suffered by the fires Tuesday, it was no ordinary prairie fire. It licked up everything combustible in grass, stubble and wood, [illegible] seemingly without coming in contact with the fire. The combustion was almost spontaneous in the dry and heated condition of the atmosphere brought on by the terrific gale.

THE LIST OF LOSSES INCREASING.

County After County Has the Same Story of Desolation.

CHICAGO, April 5.—Daily News St. Paul, Minn., special: The list of losses by prairie fires in Dakota increases, and descriptions of hair breadth escapes are very thrilling. In Yankton county alone the damage is placed at $150,000.

Near Rapid City Prof. G. F. Baily's ranch was destroyed. When a party of neighbors drove through the blinding smoke to the rear of the house an appalling sight met their gaze. Standing in a little hollow below the ruins of the house was Eloise Madison, blistered and scorched and burned, with hardly a shred of clothing upon her. She was terribly burned. Mrs. G. F. Baily, in whose employ the young girl was, and Wm. Ashton, a hired man, had a very narrow escape, and as it was suffered painful but not dangerous injuries. Mrs. Baily says when the fire caught the dwelling house it blazed up like tinder and allowed them no alternative but to run for their lives. This they did, Mr. Ashton taking each of the women by the arm and starting with them through the smoke and flames. They had gone but a short distance when Miss Madison fell. The smoke was so thick when they stopped to look for her that she could not be seen and thinking she had gone in another direction, they resumed their efforts to escape. After a severe struggle they succeeded in getting to the windward side of the fire, and made their way to a neighboring ranch.

At George Hunt's place the family had just seated themselves at the dinner table, when Mrs. Hunt saw sparks flying in through a crack in the kitchen. Seizing a blanket a piece the people in the house threw them over their heads and started from the building. By good fortune all succeeded in reaching a place of safety. For twenty feet their path was through a sheet of flames fifty feet high.

Many other farmers in Rapid valley barely escaped the wild flames, which sped across the ground like a flash of lightning. The wind was blowing at the rate of sixty miles an hour. Had the velocity of the wind been less more damage would have resulted. Thousands of dollars worth of property was destroyed.

Within ten miles of Freeman thirty-two families lost their homes, only escaping partly clothed. Machinery, grain, hay and a great amount of stock were burned. The unfortunate farmers are entirely destitute, and without food or shelter.

In Douglas county the fire was the worst ever known. Many farmers lost everything and are homeless and destitute. The house of William Kline was burned and Mrs. Kline perished in the flames.

Near Oakwood lake lives Frank Goodfellow. He was away from home when the fire came. Mrs. Goodfellow and their children heroically fought flames for several hours, and then were forced to get down on their knees while the flames passed over them. Mrs. Goodfellow is so badly burned that she will probably die.

In Brule county casualties are being reported daily. Fully one hundred families have lost everything, the loss reaching $150,000.

Two women were burned to death near Chamberlain. It is reported at the latter place that the fire was started by Indians on the reservation. The Crow creek agency had a narrow escape.

A BLOODY SIX ROUND FIGHT

It Wasn't Exactly Greek Against Greek, but McCarthy vs. McCarthy

NEW YORK, April 5.—A battle for the feather weight championship of America, $500 a side and a purse of $250, between Cal. McCarthy, of Jersey City, and Mat McCarthy, Ed Holske's Philadelphia unknown, took place to-night at a resort not far from this city, on Long Island. Cal was declared winner, after punishing the Philadelphian's head and face almost to a mass of bleeding flesh, in six rounds.

The Philadelphia boy has a good reputation as a boxer, but never had any experience as a finish fighter. He is 22 years old, stands 5 feet 4½ inches tall and weighed 113 pounds.

Cal McCarthy has a record of never having been defeated. This was his twenty-sixth battle. His age is 21 years, and he stands five feet two inches in hight, weighing 114.

Both boys were in the pink of condition. The Philadelphia boy proved nothing more nor less than a chopping block.

In the first round betting was $100 to $40 on Cal, and he scored a dozen clean left hand jabs on his opponent's jaw and face without a return.

During the second, third and fourth rounds it looked only a matter of time before the little Jersey man would knock Mat out. The latter was bleeding and swollen on the face and neck, and both eyes were closing.

The fifth round was thought to be the last, but Holske's man proved himself very game.

In the sixth and last round, Cal met him full on the neck with a desperate left and right double handed blow, and he went down. Just as time was up he was on his feet staggering all over the ring. Frazer held up the sponge, that his man was there, and the referee awarded the battle to Cal.

A BRUTAL PRIZE FIGHT

SHAMOKIN, Pa., April 5.—A desperate prize fight of five rounds with skin gloves, Queensberry rules, took place this morning between Clipper Donahue, of Philadelphia, and Hen Wilson, colored, of Newark. The slugging was fierce throughout and both men were frightfully battered. In the last round Wilson struck Donahue below the belt, and the referee gave the battle to the latter.

A PUGILIST'S JAW BROKEN

CHICAGO, April 5.—Twenty prize fight spectators were arrested to-night just after a mill in the southern part of the city. The fighters were local middle weights, Wm. Gaynor and Chas. Chase. Gaynor was knocked out in the second round by a blow which broke his jaw.

CHARGED WITH A TERRIBLE CRIME

Two Young Men Arrested for Murdering an Entire Family.

LITTLE ROCK, April 5.—A Fordyce, Ark., special to the Gazette says: G. B. Dickson, sheriff of Titus county, to-day arrested Frank Shultz at that place, on a charge of murder. On the night of the 10th of December last, the house of J. B. King, a well-to-do farmer of Titus county, was burned and the charred remains of King, wife and six children were found in the ashes. Upon examination, it was found that the skulls of all the family had been crushed in, and an ax and a hatchet were found in the house.

On the day of the murder King and his son, aged 22, had killed hogs, and as they were to move into a new house a few hundred yards distant, they had carried the meat to the new house, and young King slept there, to guard the meat, the night of the murder. Before going to the new house for the night young King had used the ax and left it at the yard gate.

Suspicion pointed to King's son-in-law, Shultz, first cousin to the man arrested here, who had run away with King's daughter, and had forged an order for the marriage license, and it was a fear of being prosecuted for forgery that caused him to murder King and his family.

Shultz, King's son-in-law, had made threats and has since confessed to friends that he and his cousin did the killing, that he killed King and his wife, and that his cousin killed the six children and then set fire to the house.

Young Shultz, who was arrested here, came to Dallas county in January with John Parham and has since been living with him. He says he can prove he was forty-five miles away at the time of the killing. The sheriff says he has positive proof that Shultz was seen near King's late on the evening in question.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Sixteenth Annual Meeting of the Woman's Occidental Board.

LOS ANGELES, April 4.—The sixteenth annual meeting of the Occidental board of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society closed to-night.

In her report, Mrs. Chown, of San Francisco, the general secretary, stated that over $3000 had been collected and disbursed for mission work during the year. She also announced that the Occidental board as united in independent existence, having cut loose from the Philadelphia board. A number of papers were read.

Murder and Suicide

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., April 5.—An unknown young man entered a disreputable house in this city this evening and fatally shot Kate Edwards and then sent a bullet through his own head. He was a beardless youth and so far as known was a stranger in the city. No cause for the deed could be learned.

An Enormous Gas Jet.

NEW WATERFORD, O., April 5.—While men were drilling for gas to-day gas was suddenly struck and caught fire. Three men were badly burned before they could get away. The derrick and other buildings were burned to the ground. The gas is burning forty to fifty feet high now.

A Terrible Storm in Hungary.

LONDON, April 5.—A terrible storm has visited Southern Hungary, demolishing many houses. In some of the villages extensive conflagrations are raging.

A Hundred Tons of Money

It hardly seems possible that the money paid in one month for a certain article could, if pennies were used in payment, weigh one hundred tons. Yet one of our bright school boys has figured that this is true of Diamond Dyes. To judge from the stocks of our dealers in dyestuffs Diamond Dyes own the field of package dyes, and are a complete success. Of course they have imitators. Nothing is a success unless imitated. But no one wants to risk a counterfeit when the genuine can be obtained at the same price. Three new colors have lately been added to the list of Diamond Dyes: Fast Stocking Black, Turkey Red for Cotton, and Brown for Cotton. The manufacturers, Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt., will send colored samples of these new dyes with book of directions to any address free of charge. These additions seem to have made the list so complete that any shade can be matched with some color of Diamond Dyes. The beautiful sample book of [illegible] is sent to all dealers in dyes, will delight the eye of any lady. It's easy to dye with Diamond Dyes. It is absolutely true that home dyeing is no longer a difficult and disagreeable task. Almanacs, with their hints as to proper times for different work, tell us that now is the time for Spring dyeing. This together with the thought of that hundred tons of money, leads us to ask what school boy can figure how many thousands of ladies are now saying that this is the time to use Diamond Dyes.

The Editor Exalted

Rochester Post Express (Dem.)

President Harrison has given the first [illegible] missions to editors—Reid, Rice and Halstead.

It is clear that the editor takes a much higher rank in the republican than in the democratic party, where he has been treated simply as a contemptible creature with a propensity for ghoulish glee.

[illegible] the last twenty-eight years the republican party has been in power twenty four years, and has besides secured power for four years to come.

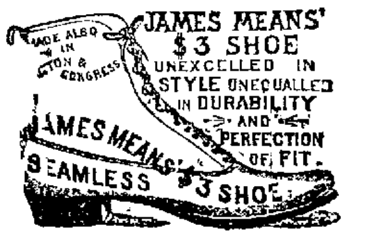
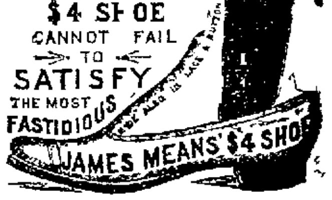
THE MARCH OF PROGRESS!
OUR LATEST IMPROVEMENTS!

"Competition is the Life of Trade," and if you have not seen our latest improved goods you cannot imagine how lively trade is or how hard it [illegible] within sight of us. Ask your retailers for the James Means $3 Shoe or the James Means $4 Shoe, according to your needs.

Positively none genuine unless having our name and price stamped plainly on the soles. Your retailer will supply you with shoes so stamped if you insist upon his doing so; if you do not insist, some retailers will coax you into buying inferior shoes upon which they make a larger profit.



MADE ALSO IN BUTTON & CONGRESS
JAMES MEANS' $3 SHOE
UNEXCELLED IN STYLE UNEQUALLED IN DURABILITY AND PERFECTION OF FIT.
JAMES MEANS' SEAMLESS $3 SHOE



JAMES MEANS' $4 SHOE
CANNOT FAIL TO SATISFY THE MOST FASTIDIOUS
MADE ALSO IN LACE & BUTTON
JAMES MEANS' $4 SHOE

Such has been the recent progress in our branch of industry that we are now able to affirm that the James Means $4 Shoe is in every respect equal to the shoes which only a few years ago were retailed at eight or ten dollars. If you will try on a pair you will be convinced that we do not exaggerate. Ours are the original $3 and $4 shoes, and those who imitate our system of business are unable to compete with us in quality of factory products. In our lines we are the largest manufacturers in the United States.

One of our traveling salesmen who recently visited the shoe retailers of the Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain Region writes from there as follows:

"I am more than satisfied with the results of my trip. I have thus far succeeded in placing our full line in the hands of 'A No. 1' dealers at every point I have visited." He goes on to say: "This is a splendid region for us to sell shoes in because most of the retail dealers are charging their customers at retail about double the prices which the shoes have cost at wholesale. The consequence is that the people who wear shoes are paying six or seven dollars per pair for shoes which are not worth as much as our JAMES MEANS' $3 and $4 SHOES. Our shoes, with their very low retail prices stamped on the soles of every pair, are breaking down the high prices which have hitherto ruled in the retail markets here, and when a retailer puts a full line of our goods in his stock they at once begin to go off like hot cakes, so great is the demand for them."

Now kind reader, just stop and consider what the above signifies so far as you are concerned. It assures you that if you keep on buying shoes bearing no manufacturers' name or fixed retail price stamped on the soles, you cannot tell what you are getting and your retailer is probably making you pay double what your shoes have cost him. Now, can you afford to do this while we are protecting you by stamping our name and the fixed retail price upon the soles of our shoes before they leave our factory so that you cannot be made to pay more for your shoes than they are worth?

Shoes from our celebrated factory are sold by wide awake retailers in all parts of the country. We will place them easily within your reach in any State or Territory if you will invest one cent in a postal card and write to us.

NOTES FROM OVER THE WAY.

The Willamette Baseball Club Now In the Field.

City Jails Inspected—Gone East—"Gone Fishing"—In Memoriam—Making Brick—Nipped by Frost—Personal—Etc.

The Willamette baseball club have organized for the season's campaign with Fred Bally as president. Each member of the club has his new uniform. The boys have been practicing at the Oaks for sometime and yesterday were on the grounds of Clinton & McCoy. An attempt will be made to arrange for a match game one week from to-morrow with the Standards, of Portland, which club is the old Portlands re-organized. The Standards, so it is stated, have been practicing steadily for more than a month and will endeavor to give the Willamettes plenty of work.

IN MEMORY

At the last meeting of the board of stewards of the Methodist church the following was spread on the minutes in memory of the late Mrs. J. C. Mendenhall:

WHEREAS, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to take from our midst our beloved sister and co-worker in the church, Mrs. Kate P. Mendenhall, and,

WHEREAS, Sister Mendenhall for several years past has been a steward and member of this board and has filled her place with fidelity and usefulness; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Sister Mendenhall the Methodist Episcopal church of East Portland has lost an exemplary member and officer, and the kingdom of Christ among us a faithful worker and loyal subject.

Resolved, That we, the official board of the Centenary M. E. church of East Portland, hereby put upon record our high appreciation of her exemplary Christian character that bore her through many trials and afflictions with a cheerful and resigned trust, and assures us of the final "well done" of her Heavenly Father.

Resolved, That we bear her memory on our hearts, and remember her afflicted family in our deepest sympathies and most earnest prayer.

Resolved, That these resolutions be inscribed upon the records of this board.

FISH DAY

The proprietor of the notion store next door to McCormick's grocery in Ross's building, does not allow his business to stand in the way of his having a little fun. The doors were closed up yesterday and on one door were the words painted on a sheet of brown paper: "Office hours, from 7 to 8 A. M. and from 7 to 8 P. M., except Sunday." On the other side of the door were also the words: "Gone fishin'. If don't git drunk or drownded will be back to-morrow. No goods sold here on Sundays." It is evident that this storekeeper intends to have a good time whether school keeps or not. He keeps his store open one hour in the morning and three hours in the afternoon, and what he loses in the way of business he makes up in fishing. Thus it is [illegible] by the [illegible] business he should live to a green old age.

BAPTIST SERVICES

Regular services are to be held hereafter every Sunday in connection with the Baptist mission Sunday school in Albina. There will be preaching next Sunday in Hill's hall at 11 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. by Rev. Geo. W. Hill, who has just taken charge of the city mission work of the First Baptist church of Portland. The Sunday school meets at 3 P. M. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

INSPECTED THE CITY JAIL

The grand jury drove over to the East Side yesterday and made an inspection of the city jails in Albina and in East Portland. In both instances the jails were found in good condition. Having inspected the city jail in East Portland the jury also inspected the building on K and Fourth, and from the smiles indulged, it is judged they found everything satisfactory.

WILL IT GET IN THE PAPER?

Yes, it will get there. Friday night a dance was given on Columbia slough at the residence of Mr. Court. Some of the young men who attended got drunk and kicked up a disgraceful row. One of the young fellows engaged in the disturbance made the remark: "Will it get in the papers?"

GONE EAST

Mrs. Walter Smith, Mrs. W. B. Hall, Mrs. Clark, and Mrs. Henry Bennett left Wednesday on the Northern Pacific for a trip to the Eastern states. The different members of the party will remain all the way from three to six months, and will visit their old homes and many points of interest.

STRAWBERRIES

M. McManus brought in some strawberries yesterday from his place east of the city. They were grown out in the open air, and were well developed. Last Tuesday night, however, the heavy frost nipped all the bud, as well as the young potato vines that were up several inches.

VENEERED BUILDING

The wooden frame for West's new building on Fourth between M and N is nearly up. It will be surrounded by a brick wall and will be a veneered building. The brick work will be done as soon as the brick can be obtained.

THE BRICK YARDS

All the brick yards on the Sandy road are in active operation with full forces of men. In [illegible] kiln is already being burned and there will [illegible] of brick for the many buildings when they are needed.

KENO NOTES

A Vegetable Tramp—A Sagacious Dog—Land Buyers Around—Business Prospects

KENO, OR., April 2.

Land buyers are around and one, Mr. Martin of Yreka, bought 320 acres last Monday. The Klamath city business is growing lively, the steamboat canal at Lost river is progressing rapidly, and the flour mill company writes from Fresno to say that they will be here shortly. Allow me to repeat this is about the best rural point in Oregon for [illegible] and many will regret not having come here in time.

The remarkable sagacity lately displayed by a black bird dog is [illegible] home over at the California line eight miles from Keno. A year-old son of Neil [illegible] the attempt to reach his father who was at work half a mile away got lost in the wilderness of sage brush, and the mother in her despair after searching in vain all the afternoon appealed frantically to the dog: "Go, Nig, and find baby." The dog, after smelling around a few minutes, struck a scent, dove into the sage brush, and in ten minutes was howling a full quarter of a mile away. When the parents reached the spot there lay the child asleep, its cheek pressing the cold mud and tears still on its baby lashes. "I think a heap o' that dog," said Neil to his neighbors, and the assertion struck a rich vein in the credence which rural folk so readily give to fair evidence.

The lakes are gradually drawing back from the shores, and the tall, heavy water plants called "tules," deserted by the receding waters and left to starve slowly on rain and dew, are exceedingly troublesome to the lake and river grangers. The innutritious fodder grows in the midst of the sweet grass and bothers hay makers in the summer and stock in the winter. As the burning of them in spring when they are dry depends upon the direction of the ever varying Klamath winds, the practice is attended with danger. A few weeks ago a "tule burning" resulted in the destruction of an $800 hayrick belonging to Mills & Rider, and the other day the wind experienced a change of heart and sent the flames leaping over the sagebrush to a barn filled with baled hay, which it destroyed together with 1,000 good rails. These starving vegetables are like tramps. They are melancholy facts thrusting themselves into rural feed, getting into haystacks and adding tons to the heaviness of granger cares. In a year or two, however, they will be things of the past.

YESTERDAY'S LEGAL DOINGS.

Conviction of E. A. Jones—New Suits Instituted—Held to Answer—Police Court—Acquitted—Fishermen's Row

The case of E. A. Jones, the druggist who was convicted in Justice Tuttle's court and fined $150 for selling morphine without a physician's prescription to Theodore Davis, came up on appeal before Judge Stearns in part 2, state circuit court, yesterday. Jones had a trial and was promptly convicted.

TROUBLE BETWEEN FISHERMEN

Constable Sam Simmons yesterday morning arrested S. J. Priestly and Florane Harlow, two fishermen plying their vocation on the Willamette river beyond the White House, on a warrant sworn out in Justice Tuttle's court, charging them with assault with a dangerous weapon upon several Italians. There are three complaints sworn against each. Harlow is charged with assault with a dangerous weapon upon Earnest Perault, Peter Curler and Jean Pearson, and Priestly has similar charges preferred against him by Curler, Pearson and one Peter Carter.

The trouble between the two factions is over the rights to certain fishing grounds. The Italians claim that they have leased a portion of the shore of the island up the river beyond the White House and that the two defendants fished on those grounds against their consent.

They further claim that Priestly and Harlow attempted to drive them off, and in the scrimmage that ensued they were assaulted with rocks and clubs. The cases will be investigated in Justice Tuttle's court either this afternoon or Monday. It is understood that Priestly and Harlow have sworn out complaints against the Italians in a justice court in Oregon City.

DALLYING WITH WORTHLESS CHECKS

In addition to paying a fine of $5 for drunkenness in the police court yesterday afternoon William Lureck was arraigned on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses from G. W. Scarfuss.

Lureck had a check for $500 on the First National bank bearing the signature of Mitchell, Lewis & Co., on which he obtained $5 from Scarfuss, the proprietor of the saloon two doors below the city jail.

On being asked to enter a plea to the charge Lureck replied that he was drunk and consequently did not know whether he was guilty of the charge or not. As he did not want a preliminary examination the court held him to appear before the grand jury under bonds in the sum of $[illegible]00.

POLICE COURT

William Lureck alias Smith, simple drunk, fined $5; Harry McMahon, drunk, discharged; Joan Lindberg, Charles McLaughlin and William Hooper, drunk, fined $5 each; Chris Ingard, disorderly, continued until this afternoon; John Reid, roaming the streets after midnight, ten days imprisonment in the city jail; Ah Sing, using abusive language to Gus May, $10; Gus May, assault and battery upon Ah Sing, $10; S. C. Baker, carrying concealed weapons, $5.

SUIT FOR $18 13.

L. J. Levisohn commenced suit in Justice Phelan's court yesterday afternoon against S. B. Morse and wife, to recover $18 13. The complaint alleges that defendant bought merchandise of Waller Bros. to the value of $28 13. Of this amount only $10 was paid, while the claim for the balance ($18 13) was transferred to the plaintiff before the commencement of this action.

MRS. GONDIE ACQUITTED

Mrs. J. E. Gondie of Albina having had a hearing in Justice Tuttle's court on a charge of kidnaping a 16-year old girl named Cora Beach, from Mrs. Margaret Earhart, has been found not guilty. There was not sufficient evidence produced to make out a case, and the court ordered her acquittal.

NEW SUITS

The following new suits were begun yesterday:

John Klosterman & Co. vs. C. E. Marvin for $1000 for breach of contract.

John H. Dall vs. G. L. Eastman for $321 for money due.

W. W. Spaulding vs. The Portland & Willamette Valley Railway Company, for $565 66 for goods sold.

LICENSED TO WED

Marriage licenses were granted yesterday for F. C. Smith and Emma Johnson, Herman Crohn and Martha Danziger, W. R. Moffet and N. E. Johnson, Philip Benjamin and Rachael Gumlert, Kyrle Money and Mary E. Belcher.

Money Appropriated for Wagon Roads Will Be Well Expended—Wails of Democratic Obstructionists

PORTLAND, April 5.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN.

The Albany Daily Democrat has recently contained a series of "kicks" against the legislature because it appropriated money to build wagon roads in Southern and Eastern Oregon.

Of course this was to be expected. The brethren always kick when anything is being done. They have generally opposed the acquisition of territory, the collection of federal revenue, the aid to internal improvements and the education of the masses. Peculiar conditions and circumstances have sometimes reversed their action in these matters, but their general course since this government begun has been in opposition to the progressive spirit and genius of our people.

They have a natural antipathy to all improvements upon the conditions of primitive nature. In fact, the only movement which has ever had their cordial and hearty support was one to subjugate their fellow man by the institution of human slavery.

They do not recognize the blessing conferred on mankind by the opening of rivers and harbors to commerce, but bewail the wages paid the laborer who removes the obstructions. They build no bonfires when mankind takes a step forward. The opening of a continent to settlement by the completion of the Union Pacific railroad brought no cheers from their ranks, but throughout the whole land there went out from democratic throats dismal howls because congress encouraged and aided this enterprise of great national importance by giving to its projectors a portion of the land contiguous to the line of road they built, stipulating that it should be sold in small tracts to actual settlers at the maximum price of $2 50 per acre.

Had congress refused to aid this and other transcontinental roads probably none would have been built to this day, and a domain 2000 miles square, as fair as the sun shines upon, would be unsettled and under control of a few miserable savages. But, when these savages, driven back by the iron horse, had made room for the homestead of the white settler, when the steel band from ocean to ocean was garnished on either side with the rainbow tints of civilized life and all the philanthropists in the land were glad, the democrats were still kicking.

Whenever the people have declared at the ballot box that the enemies of progress should not hold the reins of government in a land consecrated by its best blood to the cause of human rights and the equality of all before the law, the instinct in the meaner portion of humanity came to the front and the democrats kicked.

They have kicked at every proposition calculated to strengthen and perpetuate our government, promote the cause of justice, or ameliorate the condition of mankind.

The little kicks of the little paper referred to would not have attracted attention did we not expect to be annoyed by the spiteful heels of the whole kicking breed. They will assign different reasons, each contradicting the other, but they will all kick. They will even kick each other. This little Albany mule kicks because the counties which pay the most taxes did not receive the largest appropriations, and shows that several counties pay less in taxes than the amount voted them by the state. This is the very reason their section received state aid. The strong need no help from the weak, and the wealthy counties can by subscription or county tax build all the roads and bridges they need. Besides, it was not to the few settlers in these poor counties spoken of that the appropriations were made, they were made to the soil of Oregon in order to promote its settlement, and will be expended in sections where the people are too poor to build the expensive roads and bridges required.

It is the true policy of Western Oregon to encourage the settlement of the Eastern and Southern portions of the state and this cannot be done in a better or more practical manner than by helping those who reach their homes on horseback over mountain trails, to build roads that they may invite less venturesome settlers to come in and make their homes beside them. The Columbia and Willamette rivers, natural roadways for travel and commerce, encouraged the settlement of the portions of our state through which they passed while less favored portions have remained almost unknown to farmer and mechanic. We publish pamphlets inviting civilized people to come here but point them to portions of our state where they must leave their wagons behind until they hew and dig out roads over which they can pass.

For twenty years our brethren in Eastern and Southeastern Oregon have called to us for help in these matters, but the kickers said "No" until we were favored with enough men in the legislature to say: "Here's a hand, my trusty friend, and give us a hand of thine."

The roads will be built, the pioneer will be happy, the state will be benefited, but the democrats will kick.

Knowing their disposition and proclivities we say, kick by all means. It can do no good, but may do some harm. It may harass, impede, obstruct, hinder or stop something, and by another accident they might be able to inflict upon our state the inconvenience of having to pass all needed legislation over the heads of the present governor for another four years. Just think of what a triumph that would be, and how much harm it would do.

Remember, this prince of kickers is from the lowly walks of life, and yet how much he has accomplished. He built a little sawmill and with that as a nucleus of operations came near preventing 50,000 people from crossing the Willamette river. He began by defying the laws of his country and kicking the poor Chinamen.

Some of his confederates were sent to the penitentiary while he was sent to the state capitol. He was not discouraged and has made himself more of a burden to the people than all the other law breakers they support.

The kickers might elect this man again. He has a great hold on the dagoes and sawlog men, and these three classes combined would make a formidable array at the ballot box.

DOWN TOWARD THE SEA

Salmon Fishing Notes—New Locomotives—Improvements—Stock Issued—Fish Traps—Etc.

Astorian and Pioneer.

Baker's bay is almost completely covered with traps.

About 125,000 cases Columbia river spring salmon, pack of 1889, have been sold.

Considerable improvement in the way of grading and building is going on in upper town.

The track of the Ilwaco Railway & Navigation Company has been laid past Loomis's place.

A thirty ton locomotive has been ordered for the Astoria & South Coast Railway Company.

Every little and big boat on the river is busy, and more than busy, some of them going all day and part of the night.

The contract for carrying the mail brought down on the O. R. & N. Co.'s boats to the postoffice has been let to Ed. Foster.

The board of directors of the Astoria & South Coast railroad Company have authorized the issuance of $60,000 more stock.

Old Mr. McEwen says he has been forty nine years in this country, and that this was the finest winter he ever saw here or anywhere else.

The up river canneries report few fish so far. The first weeks of April never do amount to much, the water is unusually clear this season.

Putting in fish traps on Desdemona sands is a difficult piece of business. The little traps stand it, but the waves wash out the piles driven by the pile driver for the large traps and no foundation can be secured. Harry Woods lost between $400 and $500 worth of piles that way in the last week.

Not for nine years has so much fishing gear been in the water in the first week in April as there is this year. The catches so far are small.

Cannery men from up the river report a good catch and fish of large size. Every cannery on the river that will run this season, will be busy by the end of this week.

Some very fine fish were received at several canneries yesterday. The Chinese choppers are a little rusty at the business yet, but in a week or so will be able to keep one fish in the air all the time.

On Miller's sands, and the middle sands are seven scow houses, and more coming. That historic battle ground will be heard from before the season is over. It was a lively bit of water Thursday with men out wading up to their necks to keep the scows from going adrift.

Timber men from Deep river, tell of trees there 180 feet to the first branch, that will scale 12 M to a tree. There's thousands of acres of just such timber both sides the river and it is being snapped up. It costs $2 50 for each of 160 acres now, but each quarter section will be worth 200 twenty dollar gold pieces before long.

Peter Jordan, engineer on the steamer Wenona, fell from the deck into the engine room a few days ago, and was badly bruised around the head and shoulders. He is unable to be out, and it is feared that his injuries will prevent him from attending to his duties for a long time. His place on the Wenona is filled by Oscar Wilson.

The strike at the Clatsop mill terminated yesterday and a full force went to work at 1 P. M. When the employers had paid off about half a dozen the rest weakened and concluded that a steady job beat loafing all to pieces. The Gartmore will load 900,000 feet of lumber for South America. Several in the box factory, including Superintendent Fibon, quit.

The steamer Wenona brought a few salmon over last evening in a novel manner. She was coming across the sands and in going over a place where the water was thin, her propeller picked up a piece of net with several salmon attached. Captain Farley had no time to make another drift on the way over so he brought the net right along with him and beached his steamer here and at low tide last night he was picking pieces of net, leads, etc., out of the propeller shaft. If he could have induced the propeller to make another haul he would probably have been high boat yesterday.

IMPORTANT TO MARINERS.

Several Buoys and Lights Established and Several Reported Adrift—The Different Points Effected

The following information regarding lights and buoys on Puget sound is compiled from the last special bulletin issued from the San Francisco branch hydrographic office:

POINT MONROE, NEAR PORT MADISON.—A fixed red lens lantern light, suspended from a white stake eighteen feet high, on the spit, about ten feet from high water mark and 100 yards from the low water end of the spit. From the light, West Point lighthouse bears S. S. E. ¼ E., distant four miles. The light is about twenty three feet above sea level.

WILLIAM POINT, BELLINGHAM BAY.—A fixed white lens lantern light, suspended from a white stake 10 feet high and 8 feet from the edge of the bluff about 100 yards west from the north end of the point. The light is about 50 feet above sea level.

TAYLOR'S SPIT, HALE'S PASSAGE.—A fixed white lens lantern light suspended from a white stake 18 feet high and about 80 yards from the low water end of the spit on the east side of Lummi island and about one mile from the north end of the island. The light is about 27 feet above sea level and serves to guide vessels through Hale's passage.

BELLE ROCK, ROSARIO STRAITS.—A second class whistling buoy, painted black and marked "Belle Rock," has been moored about 100 yards north by east from Belle Rock. The buoy is moored in eleven fathoms of water and is close to the edge of the kelp. The rock is bare at extreme low water. The currents in this vicinity are very strong. In very smooth weather the buoy may not whistle.

PARTRIDGE BANK, STRAITS OF FUCA.—The first class can buoy has been replaced. It is moored in four fathoms of water near the shoalest part of the bank.

POINT FRANCIS, HALE'S PASSAGE.—A second class nun buoy, painted red and numbered 2, has been moored about ⅝ mile W. [illegible] S. W. ¾ W. from the south end of Point Francis, west side of Bellingham bay. The buoy is in 5 fathoms of water and is close to the end of a spit that makes off from Point Francis. The buoy should be left to the eastward.

SHAG ROCK, SOUTH SIDE OF ORCAS ISLAND.—An iron spindle 19 feet high, with a white barrel on top, has been established on Shag rock, on the west side of the entrance to East sound. The rock just shows at high water and the ledge extends about 50 yards to the northward of the rock. There is deep water between the rock and the south shore of Orcas island, but the passage is not generally used.

FROM THE LIGHTHOUSE BOARD

Inspector Nicoll Ludlow, under date of April 1, issued the following order:

SAN PEDRO, CAL.—Notice is hereby given that the wreck buoy near Deadman's island, entrance to San Pedro, Cal., has been removed, the wreck having disappeared and is no longer a danger to vessels.

SAN DIEGO, CAL.—The inner mid channel buoy, entrance to San Diego, has been replaced.

The black and red spar buoy at the lower end of middle round shoal inside Ballast point, entrance to San Diego, has been replaced.

Glenedon, W. T., March 25, 1889.

An Open Letter

Mr. Editor—Dear Sir: For the past twenty years I have been affected with catarrh of a very disagreeable character. Large scabs formed in the head and came down and I expectorated a great deal of thick viscid stuff from my throat. The catarrh had also affected my hearing. I applied to Drs. Darrin for relief. They said that my case was an easy one to cure and now they have cured me most entirely of my catarrh. They are making wonderful cures, and I advise the afflicted to try them. Yours truly,

The old rival of the city of Portland arises from its long sleep.

The Portland Smelting Company has located on the site of the old town and soon the hum of a busy industry will there awake the echoes.

Work on an extensive smelting plant has already commenced, which will bring in its train many other enterprises, among which are grain warehouses, a sawmill, brick and stone warehouses, etc., in short a thriving town.

No better location for the business can be found on the river below Portland as the ground is free from sloughs and ravines. The company has reserved about thirty acres for the smelter which will be built and put in working order as speedily as money and muscle will allow. Adjoining the site for reservation is the original plat of Linnton, consisting of about eighty acres, with a river frontage of about 2000 feet, with deep water to the shore and to whose wharves the vessels of the world can come without let or hindrance, from the river coaster to the grain laden ship of thousands of tons. The site is beautiful and a view from the top of the western slope is grand and inspiring.

Lots in the townsite are 25x100 feet and will be sold for from $100 to $125, with a guarantee that the smelter will be built in ninety days. No better investment is offered. Call on the undersigned sole agent, and select a few of those lots. Maps and terms at my office.

PORTLAND, SATURDAY, APRIL 6

UNIVERSAL CONDEMNATION.

Those members of the senate who by rejection of Mr Halstead put themselves on record as senators who will use their official position to punish criticism of their acts have been receiving severe treatment at the hands of the press. They are censured alike by republican, democratic and independent journals, yet severe and general as is the criticism, they do not get more than they deserve.

The New York World (Dem) says that "the president should by repeated and continued nominations of outspoken editors defend the freedom of the press." The New York Evening Post (Ind) says: "It is a fortunate thing for Mr Halstead that he should be rejected by the senate for his boldness in exposing the corruption by which Mr Payne was elected to succeed Mr Pendleton in the senate, and for applying the lash to the republican senators who voted against an investigation of that iniquity. This is the brightest spot in Mr Halstead's editorial career in recent years. If he is made a martyr for it he will deserve a martyr's crown and we shall help to bestow it upon him. The republican senators who voted to stifle inquiry into that dark transaction deserved all that Mr Halstead said of them and more."

The Milwaukee Sentinel (Rep) says: "It would be safe to wager that the senate has made Mr Halstead a good deal more popular in Ohio than he ever was in his life. The people of Ohio believe Senator Payne's seat was bought and they believe Halstead was righteous in his indignation at the senate's refusal to investigate." The Louisville Courier-Journal (Dem) declares that "the rejection of Mr Halstead carries with it primarily a warning from the senate to the press of the country to look to its utterances when dealing with that body or any of its members," and the New York Press (Rep) says that "if the rejection has any logical meaning it must be that public criticism of public men and measures is to be punished by senators." Representative Boutelle of Maine telegraphed President Harrison that "in rejecting Mr Halstead the senate had struck one of the most desperate blows ever aimed at the liberty of the press."

No act of the senate has ever made that body so odious to the country. The conduct of that body is hastening the time when there will be a demand that senators shall be elected by a popular vote and for short terms or that the senate shall be abolished altogether.

THE HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION BILL

The press of the state has indulged in much adverse comment upon the refusal of the legislature at its last session to pass a bill brought before it to exempt a homestead to the value of $2000 from execution. The object of the bill, which was introduced by Senator Wager, was to secure the home of the family clear of any debts that might be contracted, thus practically providing against making the wife and children homeless through misfortune and mismanagement. With this intent the bill was brought before the senate, and had it been deemed able to secure this object it would no doubt have become a law. A close examination of its provisions however showed that while it would exempt the homestead from execution there was nothing in it to prevent the husband from selling the home and decamping with the proceeds of the sale, if he desired to do so, thus leaving his wife and children homeless and penniless, or from turning the money over to pay any debt of any sort if he chose to do so. Thus while the exemption contemplated would protect the homestead from execution by regular process it would open wide a door for rascality in another direction. A worthless man owning by the joint efforts of his wife in frugality and industry a home to the value of $2000, more or less, might defy his creditors to the extent of that sum but at the same time he could turn the place into money if he desired to do so, and run away or squander it in the saloon or gambling den. That there are comparatively few men who would do this does not justify the risk in giving the few who would a chance to do so. It is not from kind and judicious husbands and fathers that the law must protect wives and children but from those who are vicious and dissolute. Those who are made homeless through the payment of just debts are few compared with those who find themselves shelterless through the vice and willful abandonment of unprincipled men.

In this view, and in the belief that the proposed law was one of those mistaken attempts at human legislation that not only fail to secure the object sought but give latitude to an evil that it honestly hoped to restrain, the house refused to pass the bill. Whether it was faulty in original construction or suffered through amendment we do not know, but members saw in it a loop hole through which an unprincipled man might deprive his family of shelter after the state had provided that his honest debts could not dispossess them of their home.

It is difficult if not impossible to supply by legislative enactment [illegible] that can only come legitimately through the channels of industry, prudence and thrift. It is not out of the range of this trio of human virtues to gain a home for a family and keep out of debt. If through sickness or other unavoidable stress misfortune comes it is better to meet it honorably, square up accounts and begin again than to retain property to the amount of $2000 subject to a mortgage on the conscience and wince while creditors swear. Of course there is a side to the question that is pathetic. One that deals with the distress of wives and the plaints of children as they are deprived of a home by process of legal execution for debt, but it is doubtful if any law could be devised that would, by securing the home thus encumbered, bring the future contentment and self respecting independence that would result from bravely facing misfortune and going to work to overcome it. Be this as it may it is certain that the rejection of this bill was not due to the callous sympathies of legislators as is freely charged but to the conviction, as before stated, that it proposed a sort of protection that would not protect.

A REAL HERO

The recently published letter of Henry M Stanley, the great African explorer, recounting the frightful sufferings of his journey in search of Emin Bey inspires the inquiry whether this same Stanley does not come as near a man of heroic mould and temper as any man of our century. A man who in sickness, starvation, heat and the perils of savage warfare can press on to his purpose with dauntless inflexible resolution is a man among millions when it is remembered that the only reward of this man is the fame that comes to him if he lives and the words that would be spoken in the dull cold ear of Stanley dead that would have warmed the heart of Stanley living. There is nothing in history more splendid than the record of Stanley. The man has a fine ambition for pure fame above sordidness; he has tact, courage, nerve, endurance, marvelous power of will and sagacity in desperate circumstances. It is not too much to say that Stanley in his ambition and his performance is a man of genius. The exploration of Central Africa has been the ambition of many able and accomplished men, but think how enormously Stanley has added to the achievements of even so great and able explorers as Dr Livingstone, Burton and Speke. The record of African exploration begun years ago with Ledyard, Denham, Clapperton and Mungo Park, but until the advent of Livingstone, Speke and Stanley not much of great importance was added to our knowledge of great unsolved problems of African geography. Livingstone and Speke did wonders, but Stanley is the greatest of them all. He corrected the errors of Livingstone, he proved the truth of his brilliant hypothesis concerning the true sources and course of the great Congo river. His exploit of following that river from its source in the lakes of East Africa clear down across the continent to the Atlantic sea was only possible to a man of extraordinary endowments of mind and endurance of body. A man who has endowments of mind and body equal to the persistent execution of the performances of Stanley is a hero and a man of genius. Nobody in this century has solved the important geographical problems of the world equal to Stanley, and furthermore it may be safely said that he is the greatest explorer of all authentic human history. The Jesuit explorers of North America did a wonderful work, so did La Salle and De Soto, but their work did not compare in difficulty and danger with that of Stanley. Stanley stands at the head of great explorers as clearly as Napoleon and Hannibal stand at the head of great warriors. Stanley really settled finally the sources of both the Nile and Congo.

THE PAY OF SENATORS

The St Louis Globe Democrat, noting the fact that United States senators object to their salaries as niggardly and modestly want them doubled, deems the complaint a just one and draws a comparison between the pay of senators and that of the presidents of great corporations, basing on the difference the opinion that the former are greatly underpaid. It may occur to the public generally that it is quite as likely that the great corporation's chief officers are over paid as that the United States senators are underpaid.

The salary of the United States senator is $5000 a year in addition to his mileage, which latter is a clear gift—as he never pays his fare on the railroads. The indication that prominent and able politicians and lawyers deem this pay inadequate has never appeared in the refusal of one of them to accept the position. The complaint that the sum paid is not sufficient to maintain a decent establishment in Washington is true or false according to the individual interpretation of the term. That a man, whether a senator or a private citizen having a wife and daughters who are ambitious to shine in the social circle of the capital, can spend five, ten or twenty thousand dollars a year on his "establishment" in Washington is true, but it does not follow that he cannot live decently on the first-named sum and maintain the credit due to the position of a servant of the people. Moreover, if members of the United States senate feel that their great and distinguished ability is at the rate of $5000 a year grossly underpaid, it would show a much more modest and dignified as well as a more practical spirit if they would resign a situation the pay of which they consider inadequate and accept the presidency of railroads that largely through privileges granted by congress are able to pay such princely salaries.

There might be a possibility that the corporation situations would not go round, or it may be—we speak guardedly—that each of the seventy-four senators might not be found to possess the requisite ability to engineer a great and intricate business.

Corporations select men with an eye to their capacity in certain lines and do not like and unquestioningly pay the men that are able to advance money to secure the place or that a caucus foists upon them. With a keen eye to business they select their men and pay them what they are worth to them. It is not necessary to say anything about the manner in which senators are chosen. Suffice it to say, that they generally consider that the favor is all on their side until they get there, and find no fault with the pay which the constitution provides until their ideas of their own importance are enlarged by an opportunity to defeat a presidential appointment, while their estimate of what constitutes a decent living is changed by a season in Washington.

The journal quoted says: "It is not just that a man should be asked to labor for the government at a pecuniary loss, as all men in federal office of superior dignity and trust are compelled to do." This may be true but it changes the phase of the question somewhat when a man is more than anxious to labor for the government, does not wait to be asked and forgets to find fault with the constitutional reward allowed for his services until after his position is assured.

A WORD TO FRUIT GROWERS

Horticultural societies are being formed through the valley counties where fruit is abundant and an increased interest is shown in fruit culture and horticulture generally. County societies should work in union with the State Horticultural Society, which meets once a quarter—the second Tuesday of January, April, July and October—at the Portland city council rooms. Arrangements are made that those who pay full fare down shall have reduced fare back, paying only one fifth of the return tickets. The quarterly meeting will be held next Tuesday, April 9, and an interesting time is expected with large attendance. All persons interested in fruit culture are invited to be present. At that time steps will be taken to organize a fruit-growers' union that will attend to sales of fruit for producers. Such an association is doing well in California and realizes good prices for producers who belong to it.

The producers of Oregon need to adopt some such scheme and must do so to realize satisfactory prices. The State Horticultural Society needs the co-operation of all organizations of the kind, and by mutual effort a great deal of good may result. Fruit-growing is assuming an importance of the first magnitude and it will need co-operation and close study of opportunities as well as a thorough understanding of fruit production and value of soils, locations and varieties, as well as how to treat and manage orchards of different fruits to secure success.

Probably no community in Oregon takes more interest in horticulture and tries more earnestly to understand the questions involved than the society of fruit-growers at The Dalles that has been for some time organized. It requires such faithful work as they bestow to make success certain. Few crops are grown that require the same care and conditions as fruit production. It will require all the aid of friendly societies of the newly authorized state horticultural commission, the experience of individuals joined to the information that will be furnished by the State Agricultural College to achieve the best results that our country is capable of, and it is capable of good results whenever the business is well managed.

The Gladstonians in the British parliament steadily gain in public influence and in voting force. Their recent victory in the Kennington division of Lambeth is described as remarkable and unexpected as if Parnell had lost a district in Connaught. Lord Salisbury pretends he does not care a button about these home rule gains because parliament has its statutory term of seven years and the tory ministry is secure so long as it has a working majority in the house of commons. It is reported that the home rule party will renew the obstruction tactics practiced by Parnell in 1880-1885 in order to force Salisbury to dissolve parliament and appeal to the country in a new election. Parnell and Gladstone do not favor this course, but the radicals under Labouchere justify it on the ground that it is an outrage for the tory majority to cling to their seats to the utmost limit of the statutory term of seven years without ordering a new election to test public opinion. In the first year of George the First a house of commons that was elected for only three years voted itself a seven years tenure, a gross political outrage, which has since been allowed to stand as a precedent, because as a rule ministers in palpable changes of public opinion have made a fresh appeal to the people, so that in practice parliaments have seldom endured the full seven years term. Against Salisbury's attitude that he will neither resign nor take an appeal to the people no matter what happens Labouchere proposes with the help of forty Gladstonians to oppose the policy of obstruction and filibustering practiced once by Parnell. When the home rulers get into power the septennial act will be promptly repealed.

The new state of Dakota is sure to be in favor of the republican policy of protection, for she has large tin mines that have recently been capitalized at $15,000,000. These mines are the first and only tin mines yet developed in this country. English experts have examined these mines and on their report $4,000,000 have been invested by leading English capitalists in these mines. Mr Samuel Untermeyer, who went to England and secured this investment of $4,000,000 of English cash in these tin mines, has just returned and says that "a tariff on bar tin will be necessary to the full development of the industry, and that if it had not been for the confidence in the American system of protection it would have been impossible to induce English capitalists to invest in the mines."

The heaviest shipment of salmon ever made from Oregon City in a single day was, according to the Enterprise, made last Monday. Accurate account of the number was not kept but it was estimated to have been between 3000 and 4000. The run was a reminder of the old days wherein this sagacious fish slipped, unvexed by the nets of fishermen, from the sea to the falls of the Willamette, and may be taken as evidence that the fishing season did not begin in advance of the date permitted by law at the mouth of the Columbia.

A resident of Yelm, near Olympia, is out searching for the meteor that fell Saturday evening. His next expedition will probably be fitted out in search of the bag of gold that, according to tradition, may be found at the place where the rainbow touches the earth.

There has been great development of the lumber interest in our Southern states since 1880. There are twice as many sawmills now as then and "syndicates" are rapidly buying all the Southern timber they can get their hands on.

CATCHING SALMON—The number of salmon caught in the Willamette at the falls and between there and this city since the season opened on Monday has been larger than has ever been known in the same time before. The fish have been coming up for several weeks and on account of low water have not been able to pass the falls and consequently have accumulated till the river from Portland to the falls appears to be literally swarming with them, and they are the largest and finest ever caught. Since Monday no less than 1500 ... weighing in the aggregate seventy ... have been received here. Enough to supply the local market are bought here for about 5 cents per pound, and the remainder are shipped to canneries down the Columbia, the cannerymen readily paying an advance on this price to secure the fish. The number of salmon received here during the past five days from the Willamette falls and points between there and this city is as follows: Monday 2000, Tuesday 1503, Wednesday 1000, Thursday 800, Friday 800.

A LIVELY RUNAWAY.—H J Magee, the Fourth street milkman, narrowly escaped being killed in a runaway about 8 o'clock yesterday morning. He was returning with some milk from beyond the Canyon gardens, and when he reached Chapman street one end of the neck yoke dropped, causing the horses to run away. The horses were soon beyond control and increased their speed with the speed of the wagon, the wagon tongue oscillating to and fro between them. Mr Magee was thrown out ... at the end of Taylor street ... fortunately fell in such a manner that he ... but few bruises. The wagon tongue broke soon after and the horses continued in their flight, pulling the wagon by the traces until they reached the corner of Eighteenth and B streets, where the vehicle collided with a grocery wagon. The horses then became detached from the wagon and ran some distance further before they were stopped. One horse received a bad cut in the ...

MR. KUMMER'S RETURN.—Rev Alfred Kummer, pastor of the Taylor-street M E church, has returned from his trip to San Francisco. Mr Kummer came up overland, as he has probably had sufficient experience in making a sea voyage to last him for some time to come. He was among the passengers on the steamship Columbia, and was detained fifteen days in quarantine in the harbor of San Francisco. Mr Kummer's letters that were published in THE OREGONIAN giving an account of the tedious vexatious delay, were very readable and were perused with much interest. Rev Mr Kummer will occupy the pulpit at the Taylor street church to-morrow morning and evening.

MORE LUMBER.—Mr H B Borthwick has gone down to the domain of the Columbia River Lumber and Cordwood Company with a long team of bulls and a sawmill. He will proceed at once to build a wharf, put up the sawmill some four miles back in the woods and build a V flume with 26-inch sides from the mill to the wharf down which lumber and cordwood will be floated. There is a creek on the ground, which will furnish an ample supply of water all the year round for fluming. The company has land enough bought and bonded to supply 50,000 feet of lumber and 100 cords of wood per day for the next twenty five years.

AWARDED THE MEDAL.—The family of the late John Gates received, a few days ago, a letter from Mr John Lowe, chief engineer of the U S navy, inclosing a leaf from the journal of the Franklin Institute stating that the committee on science and arts of the institute has recommended that Mr Gates be awarded the John Scott legacy medal and premiums for a steam engine cylinder lubricator and asking for full information concerning the article. Mr Gates some years ago sold the patent right for this lubricator for Oregon and Washington to D M Moore of this city and also disposed of Eastern rights.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HAWKS.—The funeral of Mrs Mary E. Hawks was held at the Taylor-street M E church yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The George Wright Woman's Relief Corps, of which society the deceased was a member, attended the funeral in a body. They first met at G A R hall and from there marched to the church where each deposited a bouquet upon the casket of their dead sister. A large number of friends accompanied the remains to Lone Fir cemetery, where the interment took place.

A NEW INVENTION.—A new fangled hay rake has been invented by an Oregon genius who was exhibiting a model of it on the street yesterday. It is an elevator attached similar to the straw elevator on a threshing machine and it is intended to be attached to the hay wagon and to rake the hay and load it on the wagon as it is driven around the field. The inventor claims that it will load a wagon in five minutes, which it will probably do if the hay is heavy enough and the wagon small enough.

SHIPPING CANNED OYSTERS.—Mr O E Reed of Shoalwater bay has begun to ship oysters here in tins all the same as fresh Eastern oysters. This should prove a good scheme, as it will save the transportation of hundreds of tons of oyster shells yearly and the shells are of no use here. Oysters shucked and put up in hermetically sealed tins will keep fresh for a long time, and if packed in ice indefinitely.

OLYMPIA AND MONTESANO TIME CARDS.—Geo Williams, proprietor of the Olympia and Montesano stage line, has time cards posted in all the principal hotels in Portland and vicinity. Recently there has been great improvement in the means of traveling from Olympia to Gray's harbor. Travelers now take a steamer from Olympia to Kamilchie, thence by rail 12 miles, leaving 17 miles of staging by the Williams line.

WILL BE READY SOON.—Mr N Versteeg states that he is burning a kiln of brick, and that another is being burned at East Portland. About 60,000 brick will be ready for delivery on the 14th inst, and by the time these are used other kilns will be ready for delivery, and there will be no lack of brick thereafter. This will be good news to intending builders who are waiting for brick.

TWO YOUTHFUL HARD CASES.—Charles Robb and Henry Miller, aged 16, who are held at the county jail for attempted burglary, pounced on a man held as a witness yesterday and relieved him of whatever they could find in his pockets. Hearing of this Jailer Dougherty placed Robb and Miller in the corridor with the other prisoners.

REED'S FRESH SHOALWATER OYSTERS.—We are now ready to fill orders for those delicious bivalves fresh from the oyster beds, warranted to keep thirty days in a cool place. Packed in cans containing 150 and 200 oysters each. Sealy, Mason & Co, Portland, wholesale and retail agents.

NOW FOR THE UMBRELLAS.—The long talked off sale at J Selling & Co's comes off to-day. Gloria silk umbrellas at $1 50 and $1 50, ladies' new style ... in parasols $1 50, children's 25, 40 and 50 cents. Some very fine Parisian sunshades at $10 50. Immense display in center of floor.

CHILDREN'S DAY.—To-day is children's day at the electric clock exhibition. Let the little ones see the largest and finest exhibition clock in the world. Family matinee at 3. Exhibition parlor 130 First street.

DEATH OF MRS BEN HOLLADAY

She Passes Away After a Lingering Illness. The Funeral to Take Place Monday

Mrs Esther Holladay, the second wife of Ben Holladay, who died in this city ... died at the family residence on the southwest corner of Third and Stark streets at 5 30 yesterday afternoon. Her condition had been extremely critical for several days and her death came not unexpected. She was a native of Oregon and about 40 years old. She leaves two children, a daughter Linda, aged 12, and a son Ben, ... aged ...

Mrs. Holladay was the daughter of Hamilton Campbell, who came to Oregon early in the '40s. She was married to Ben Holladay in the Catholic church in this city in 1874 and shortly after with her husband went East. She was a very graceful beautiful woman and attracted a good deal of attention in Washington.

About this time financial reverses began to overtake Mr Holladay, resulting in a decline in his health and a corresponding depression in his wife's health. Next came the endless and complicated litigation about the estate, which is still in progress, and finally Ben Holladay died on July 8, 1887. From that time to her death Mrs Holladay was an invalid and suffered from frequent attacks of nervous prostration.

About three months ago Mrs Holladay began to grow weaker, and during the last three weeks was unable to leave her room. Last Sunday she became unconscious and remained in a comatose state until her death yesterday. Partial rallies were induced by the administration of stimulants, but these periods of consciousness were very brief.

Besides the two children Mrs Holladay leaves her mother, Mrs. H Campbell, and four sisters, Mrs. W H Barnhart, Mrs. Samuel M Smith and Mrs W H. Fowler of this city, and Mrs Joseph N Batchelder of Vancouver.

It is understood that Mrs Holladay left a will bequeathing what property may accrue to her estate to her children.

The funeral will take place Monday.

"BEWITCHED"

Sol Smith Russell in This Side-Splitting Farce Comedy Convulses His Audience

How little it takes to make us laugh when we are in the mood for it! And are we not always in such a mood when we are brought face to face with the humors, oddities and facial versatility of so clever a comedian as Sol Smith Russell? Certainly this was the temper of the large and fashionable audience which graced the auditorium of the New Park theater last evening brought together to see the brilliant comedian in his mirth provoking farce-comedy Bewitched. The people fairly bubbled over with laughter for more than two hours.

The play is by Edward E Kidder, the author of "A Poor Relation," and is nothing more nor less than a series of cleverly conceived and highly amusing situations produced by the magic influence of an East Indian amulet upon all who touch it. The main interest, as a matter of course, centers in Mr Russell, who as Halcyon Todd, a serious young man, is made to do some of the most ridiculous things imaginable. He simply keeps the house in roars of laughter by his inimitable manner in action, speech and facial expression.

He has a good opportunity also for the introduction of a few of the specialties in song and recitation for which he is so distinguished. His singing of "There You Are, There You Ain't" was most amusing, and he fairly captured the house by singing "Sister Susan's Playing" and "The Howling Swell." But, perhaps, what appealed most strongly to his audience was his admirable rendering of J Whitcomb Riley's dialect poems, "Nothink to Say" and "Good bye, Jim." He recited them both, but especially the latter with an intelligence and pathos that went straight to the hearts of all present. There is an undercurrent of deep feeling in most of Riley's poems which few could illustrate so well as Sol Smith Russell.

A critical notice of the play is hardly necessary. It was written to amuse, and that it fulfills its mission the roars of laughter evoked last evening fully demonstrated.

The supporting company are excellent in their respective roles, and "Bewitched" is bound to be a drawing card wherever produced.

At the matinee this afternoon "A Poor Relation" will be given for the last time and for the final performance of the engagement to-night "Bewitched" will be repeated.

A MAGNIFICENT VIEW

The Handsome Residence of George B Markle on Portland Heights

Mr George B Markle, who recently purchased the Metcalf property on Portland Heights, has sent up a steam boiler, which is now being put in place and will soon be at work pumping water from the artesian well to supply the residents in the vicinity. The people on the heights have long been wishing water from this well and are much pleased that it is at last to be available.

A large force of carpenters are at work on Mr Markle's house and it will be pushed to completion as speedily as possible. The building is being wired throughout for electric lights and will be finished in elegant style. The rooms of the lower story will be paneled with hardwood and will have hardwood floors. The entrance hall will be paneled with curly maple, the library with cherry, the dining room with antique oak and so on.

The house is of pressed brick with stone trimmings and basement, and will be very handsome when completed. It is situated on the summit of the ridge, commanding a wide view on all sides. From the front can be seen long reaches of the Willamette and Columbia rivers, the town of Vancouver and the Cascade range for many miles with its snow peaks rising above it. The greater portion of the cities of Portland, East Portland and Albina is seen from here, are spread out like a map, every street and road and the different motor lines and railroads clearly defined.

... of the traffic from the busy city the shrill whistles of the trains and steamboats are faintly heard and the view presents a panorama of the city and country, mountains and plains, forest and streams on which the eye never tires of gazing.

PORTLAND, SATURDAY, APRIL 6.

NEW YORK APPOINTMENTS.

President Harrison has done himself credit in the appointment of Colonel Joel B. Erhardt to the collectorship of the port of New York. Colonel Erhardt was the republican candidate for mayor at the November election and was only beaten by the treachery of the John J. O'Brien republican faction, who sold out to Tammany, and by the folly of thousands of republicans who voted for Hewitt when they ought to have known that it was only a choice between Tammany and Erhardt. Erhardt is a man of unblemished personal character and remarkable executive energy, courage and administrative ability. He was a gallant captain of cavalry from April 1861, to January, 1863, when he was appointed provost marshal of the "bloody" sixth district of New York city, to enforce the draft, and during the draft riots of July, 1863, he dared the mob to attack his office. He was ready for them; he had loaded shells and hand grenades in every story of his headquarters; he had his men armed with muskets, and told the mob that crowded up to his office that he would open fire on them without mercy. They retired, for they knew their man. He has since been United States district attorney of Brooklyn; has been police commissioner of New York city six years; has been United States marshal under President Arthur, whose intimate friendship he enjoyed; and he has been an able and successful receiver and manager of the New York, New England & Northern railroad. He is a member of the Union League Club, and has always been a stalwart, aggressive republican. He is a man of absolute, stern integrity; of superior capacity for the organization and execution of practical affairs, whether in business or politics; and he enjoys the friendship and respect of the most eminent and able men of all parties in New York. He can write with great clearness, vigor and power; he can speak to the point; he has been liberally educated and has traveled abroad, and he will be sure to become a vitalizing political force in his administration of the New York custom house. He is a sound lawyer and will execute the law, but he will not make the custom house a "Sailors' Snug Harbor" for aged and decayed political Falstaffs, or have anybody about him that is not a man of unsullied patriotic record.

The replacement of Postmaster Pearson by Van Cott was sound policy. Pearson is a tyrannical martinet, and nine-tenths of his letter carriers some time ago forwarded a written protest against his reappointment. He was not content with working his men to the extremity of human endurance, but he vexed them to death with his absurd regulations. He was like a stupid reinsman who frets and sweats his horse without getting any speed out of him. Pearson is the son-in-law of James, who was postmaster under Garfield. James was a creature who deserted Conkling and Arthur for Blaine the momenthe found out that they were out of favor with the administration. Pearson was "a mugwump" and Cleveland reappointed him to hold the mugwumps to his standard. The New York postoffice, like the custom house, is too great an office to be held by anybody but an able man in full, hearty sympathy with the administration, and the president is wise in replacing this colorless political phantom, Pearson, with an ardent, influential and aggressive republican of high character. Mr. Harrison does not care about the rank and file but he wants his field officers republicans of the earnest sort.

AMERICAN TRADE.

President Harrison's policy, as declared in his inaugural, favoring systematic efforts on the part of the United States to secure a fair share of the enormous trade of the Central and South American republics, is destined to be popular with the enterprising business men of both parties. The total imports of these countries for 1888 foot up $450,000,000. Of these the United States, despite her nearness to these countries, as compared with Europe, only gets about 11 per cent. That is, England and Germany sell about $400,000,000 to these countries, while we sell about $50,000,000. A week ago more than three hundred New York merchants held a meeting to consider how the United States could best secure a fair share of this vast commerce that slips through her fingers into those of England and Germany. A letter was read from President Harrison, which said that the president was in hearty sympathy with any organization having in view the promotion of friendly and business relations "between our bankers, merchants and manufacturers and the people of the states and islands lying south of us."

A leading democrat, C. N. Jordan, said he had just had a consultation with Secretary Blaine on the movement, and Mr. Blaine was heartily in favor of it. The meeting favored an effort to establish regular, frequent and speedy communication with South American ports—in American-built steamships—and to establish direct banking facilities between North and South America. These merchants evidently believe that with government subsidizing of steamship lines to South America, the United States can capture the bulk of this $450,000,000 of South American trade. Warner Miller was present and said that his visits to Mexico and South American countries proved conclusively to him that the banking facilities were dead against America, and all for England and Germany. Naturally, the merchants of those countries favored the banking institutions which could give them credit. Then, again, the English and Germans pack their goods especially to be sold in the interior. They are in small packages, and are ready to be carried on mule back.

It is clear that President Harrison has the full sympathy of the great commercial classes of this country for his policy of establishing more intimate and influential relations with South America by granting federal subsidies to American steamship lines as England has done with vast advantage to herself for sixty years. All this goes to strengthen the administration and to put Mills, Carlisle & Co.'s "free trade" policy into confusion and contempt. The property interests of the country are evidently behind Mr. Harrison, as a progressive man who believes in protection not only to defend home industries, but to develop foreign trade by means of steamship subsidies.

GREETING THE STRANGER.

It is a matter for complaint by good people who come here from a distance that there is no social life open to them and no welcome to strangers, unless they come with some special eclat, some established connections that give them social prominence. Of course the stranger within our gates cannot expect to be welcomed before he is known, or made much of until it is safe to accept him or her as a social equal. But there should be on the part of a city growing as Portland is to-day, some arrangement or organization for the purpose of receiving all good people and making them known, so they will feel they are in a civilized land, where true worth will be appreciated.

This is a time when thousands of newcomers are finding their way to Oregon and making homes amongst the old settlers. These are not often aware of the value of a kind word and friendly greeting to one who has left his old home behind and is making a new one among strangers. They are at home and come and go as usual, ignoring the wistful look the stranger casts around as if looking for a possible friend. In country, village, town or city, one and all, there should be an earnest desire to make the newcomers, who have left all the ties and friendships of a lifetime behind them, feel that they have come to a goodly country, where warm hearts are ready to greet them.

Here and everywhere the old residents should keep a personal lookout for those who find themselves strangers in a strange land, and make it a matter of duty as well as loyalty to their state to do what they can and reasonably should to interest newcomers and offer them neighborly kindness. It is simply to do as one would be done by, a golden rule, indeed, that, if well lived up to, would make this world happier and better. In such a genial climate it is natural to expect people to be warm-hearted and at least unselfish. Kind words cost little and go a long way towards reconciling a stranger to his lot. It is advisable to be unselfish and kindly if one were merely acting out the most selfish motives, for all are interested in seeing our state populous and prosperous.

A FRESH INVOICE OF NOISE.

Four hundred musicians from Italy were landed at Castle Garden last Wednesday. After some misgivings on the part of the immigration commissioners they were turned loose upon a suffering but not resigned country, and as a result the boom of the hand organ will be heard anew in the land. This, added to the fact that amateur brass bands will soon be in the field to enliven the picnic season; that "professionals" will be out in full force on Labor Day, Decoration Day, the glorious Fourth and other occasions that furnish confusion and fatigue to the masses for the purpose of giving them rest, and that the Salvation Army continues to render mistaken praise to the Lord with leathern throats and jangling tambourines, will greatly increase the prevalence of the modern disease known as "nervous prostration," and its staunch ally, insomnia—twin progeny of noise and hurry. Four hundred musicians are not many, comparatively speaking, but when added to the legion already engaged in braying horrible discord on the air, they make a reinforcement that is somewhat formidable.

A physiologist who has given careful study to the matter of the intermarriage of deaf mutes, and the increasing tendency of their offspring to congenital deafness, lately published a thesis upon the subject, to which was added a prediction that another century will develop a deaf species of the human race in America, among whom the sense of hearing will be much more rare than the absence of this sense is now among the offspring of people who hear.

At first glance we are inclined to pity this coming host, who will dwell perpetually in the realm of silence; but when we consider the supreme quiet that this condition will impose upon the nervous system, and the fact that the blare of brass instruments, the monotonous tintinabulation of the band organ and the midnight wail of the infant in the throes of colic will be alike powerless to disturb their repose, we feel that pity for such creatures is misplaced, and that it is due rather to nervous people who, driven wild through the medium of discordant sounds, with difficulty refrain from cursing the stars that had not made them deaf.

Among the excellent nominations made by the president and confirmed by the senate is that of Captain A. W. Fisher as chief clerk of the pension bureau. Fisher was a gallant Union soldier during the war, was severely wounded at the Wilderness, and after the war went to North Carolina and became chief of staff to Governor Holden. When Holden was impeached by the democratic kuklux legislature Fisher, with his wife and children, were driven out of the state with violence, insult and abuse that would disgrace a community of savages. He went to Washington, was appointed a clerk in the pension bureau and, being a man of fine collegiate and legal education, rose to be chief clerk under President Arthur's administration, to which position he has now been restored by General Harrison.

Edmund Yates assures an anxious public that there is nothing to prevent the American duchess of Marlborough from "coming to court at the next drawing room or whenever she pleases." From all of which it is reasonable to infer that the republic is safe, and that there is nothing to induce undue haste in the construction of the new cruisers.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

George B. Loring was not made minister of agriculture and a member of General Harrison's cabinet but goes to Portugal as minister plenipotentiary to that unimportant government. We never hear much of Portugal, in fact it probably makes less fuss in the world at large than George B. Loring does and is less talked about.

What in the world do so many people go to Spokane Falls for, and wht do they do when they get there? They built, they say, over 2000 houses there last year, and all are occupied. Houses rent for a price that pays 20 per cent. on the investment, and they are not modest in asking a price for lots and blocks. Spokane is a city of the future, and lives on great expectations. It will be a great railroad center and the seat of all the manufactures that part of the world can afford. They deal in futures over in Washington as largely as they do in Wall street.

All land entries made by minors have been void until of late the department has decided that a person under age who has to support a near relation may enter land if he complies with all other requirements of the law. Here is a reasonable ruling and one that will do much good and encourage young men who are desirous to make a home for a mother or some other near relative. Many a young man found himself barred by the law from taking land when all justice and equity was in his favor. This ruling will be a great help to families who are left without a responsible head—or one of age—to be responsible to the law.

A democratic journal says "Robert Lincoln is the son of his father. The Oregonian does not like that phrase, but it expresses the truth as tersely as any other." There is nothing wrong in the phrase, and no higher compliment can be paid Robert Lincoln than to use it, for it would imply that he is like his father and as worthy of respect. He is deserving of all the honors the nation can bestow. No surer passport to the affections and regard of the world can be devised for young Lincoln than to say he resembles his father. As merely a son of his father he deserves no favor, but a son inheriting the great character and noble nature of Abraham Lincoln can depend on the favor of all true Americans.

The astute Capital Journal soliloquizes that if they can make money raising pork in the Northwestern blizzard-driven states of the Union, where they have so much to contend against, and it pays better to raise pork there than any other farm produce, why should it not pay better to make pork here in Oregon? The Oregonian has explained this problem time and again to Oregon farmers. It showed how a farmer in the Waldo hills put fourteen acres of summer-fallow land into potatoes; cooked them by steaming in a vat; put a bushel of oats with a ton of potatoes and that ten bushels of potatoes and one of oats, steamed together were sufficient to make a porker weigh net 235 pounds. Can the state of Iowa beat that?

Now that the decision of the supreme court has been modified, and the case remanded to the lower court for trial on its merits, there is hope that some satisfactory solution of the "college question" may be made in due time, though no other term of the circuit court will be held until November. The regents at the March meeting purchased a good piece of land for the state, to be used for the college. With the state aid, government aid and its own endowment, the agricultural college only needs to be free of entangling alliances with the M. E. Church South in order to prosper. There must be no church control of any kind for any state institution. It will be as well to give up such institutions entirely as to let it be understood that any denomination can control. Voters will say "Let the denominations have them entirely."

Farmington is a town where many eggs are marketed. One firm shipped nearly 500 dozen in one week. Egg money comes to the farmer's wife as so much clear gain. She may fill her apron with wheat—not very full either—and scatter it out to the hens, and they may occasionally have some care and attention, but it is pleasant work, and the eggs and chickens pay as well as anything raised on the farm. When we have cold storage warehouses sufficient to store surplus eggs when they are over-abundant, to draw on when they are scarce, it will be possible to raise all the eggs we need, and not bring from Iowa. Chickens and eggs in the aggregate are of immense value. If half the population of this country are farmers, that would give 7,000,000 families. If these average 100 fowls a year, and if the hens lay fifty dozen eggs to each family, that would aggregate 700,000,000 fowls, at 20 cents, $140,000,000; 350,000,000 eggs, at 20 cents, $70,000,000; total value, $210,000,000. Here is a snug sum for the farmers of America to realize for a little trouble. The farmers of Oregon should follow the example of those about Farmington, and every village should be an "egg town."

According to the correspondents who write from Washington to the democratic newspapers there are about 150 applicants for the half a dozen Oregon offices that are best worth having. This is a democratic version, of course, and instead of complaining of the crowd they should congratulate the republicans on being able to show so many healthy applicants. Of course nine-tenths or more of these gentlemen will be disappointed, for as 'Lish Applegate said in the '60s, there are not offices enough to go round. Republicans as a rule don't worry over the disappointments to follow, for they haven't great respect for office-seeking. The democratic brethren may possibly be mistaken in the number. They say figures can't lie, but that was said before democrats began to figure.

There is a prevalent opinion that land in middle Oregon is worthless for agricultural purposes. Nowhere in the region of the Cascades has the land been tested without producing good results. People thought the area of good soil very limited, but step by step, as home seekers have invaded the wilderness beyond, it has proved fertile everywhere. Middle Oregon and the region sparsely settled east of the Cascades constitute more than one-half the state. Whenever opportunities warrant, settlers will pour in there as eagerly as the Boomers are pouring into No Man's Land to-day. Oregon is yet unknown, and between what is called mountain wilds and desert waste, the unknown includes fully two-thirds the whole. The Ochoco Review tells of a settler who has taken a quarter section that had been deemed worthless by hundreds who had traveled over it for the past twenty years. He has demonstrated that it is rich soil and will be productive. It goes on to say there are thousands of acres of similar land in that county waiting for development, and certain to make good farms and comfortable homes.

If five hundred immigrants arrive in a day and half of them become permanent residents, how long will it take to raise our population to immense proportions? asks a Washington paper. The influx is immense and the people over there seem to think all who come there stay there, but they figure too small on Oregon. This state has not the persistent and aggressive workings of a great corporation in its favor but those immigrants in large numbers come here and find homes here. There is every inducement for home-seekers who have money enough to buy homes with to locate in Western Oregon, and Eastern Oregon has as many attractions as Washington can offer. Oregon is much larger, so far as territory is concerned, than Washington. It covers one-fourth more of the world's area and in many respects is superior. It is undiscovered as yet, while all of Washington is well known. A large portion of Oregon will be a longer time in process of settlement than Washington. The building of the Oregon Pacific and the branch of the Southern Pacific that is to go through middle and Eastern Oregon will do a great deal to develop that section.

A Linn county journal says: "There are scores of farms adjacent to Lebanon that are hardly paying interest on the money invested, which if put into small farms would not only soon enhance in value, but would increase population and add greatly to the prosperity of schools and churches." The sooner the people of Oregon recognize the truth and wisdom of such advice the better it will be for the individuals and the state. Large tracts of land in California mean no civilization, no homes, orchards, gardens or schools. A 'ranch' is merely a home for the teams and men who drive them. A rough board shanty, with corral and stables of the roughest, and miles and miles of waving wheat. Half a dozen such ranches occupy space for a large county and leave no place for society and raise no children to go to school. Here in Oregon there are many whole-section farms and some few tracts of several thousand acres, and if these were made into 80-acre farms, thoroughly cultivated, every one of them would pay a good income to its owner. Many a man is "land poor" yet hungry for more land. "The little farm well tilled" is something they can't get through their heads. Yet that makes a country rich and prosperous. In France, farms range from three to twenty acres, and it was the peasant farmers who loaned France money to pay the Germans the thousand millions levied as tribute.

MARCHING TOWARD ZANZIBAR.

The Ivory in the Possession of Stanley and Emin Estimated at 3,000,000 Francs.

BRUSSELS, April 5.—The report that H. M. Stanley and Emin Pasha are marching toward Zanzibar is believed in official circles here. Surprise is expressed, however, that Emin Pasha should abandon the Lake provinces. The ivory in the possession of the party is estimated to be worth 3,000,000 francs.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM STANLEY.

LONDON, April 5.—The Royal Geographical Society has received a letter from Henry M. Stanley, the contents of which consist only of a report on the geographical results of the exploration. The letter will be read at the meeting of the society Monday.

THE GERMAN CORVETTE SOPHIE.

She Is Superior in Every Respect to the American Vessels at Samoa.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The German corvette Sophie, which sails from Zanzibar today for Samoa, is another fine ship, superior to either the Adams or Alert, which will constitute the American squadron at Samoa. She is of composite type, 14 knots speed, 2200 tons burden, carries eight 6-inch and two 3½-inch rifles, and four machine guns, with a torpedo outfit, and uses forced draft, which engineer experts here think contributed largely to the escape of the English war vessel Calliope, as it enabled her to get up steam in a short time.

POOR PEOPLE'S CHANCES.

Some years ago a city missionary was crossing one of the parks in New York on the Sabbath day and said to a lad, "What are you doing here, breaking the Lord's day? You ought to be at Church and worshipping God instead of breaking the Sabbath in this way." The poor lad in his rags looked up at the city missionary and said: "Oh, sir, it's very easy for you to talk that way, but God knows that we poor chaps ain't got no chance."

The sentiment seems to be growing that in the United States the time has arrived when "the poor chaps don't have no chance."

There is some truth in it. The poor are not shut out from making a livelihood, but the gulf between riches and poverty continually grows more difficult to cross. As the country becomes densely populated keen business competition decreases the chances for accumulating wealth by ordinary business methods.

But the same conditions vastly improve the chances for great success to those who can strike out in new paths, can furnish something to the world that others cannot.

True merit, in commodity or ability, will win easily and with grand results in this country, if the masses can be induced to recognize it. This recognition can only be accomplished by what are sometimes sneeringly alluded to as advertising methods.

What a marvelous success has attended the thorough introduction to the world of the merits of that wonderful remedy for kidney disease—Warner's Safe Cure. Hon. H. H. Warner first came to know of its curative power by being restored to health from what the doctors pronounced a fatal kidney trouble. He concluded the world ought to know of it and in the ten years since he began its manufacture he has spent millions of dollars in advertising the Safe Cure.

His methods have been ingenious—sometimes, perhaps, open to criticism, but they had a purpose, which has been accomplished.

But mark! he never would have secured a four-fold return of the vast sums thus expended if the real merit of the remedy had not been fully proven to the millions of people reached by his advertisements.

Ten years of increasing success of Warner's Safe Cure is due, first, to intelligent and pleasing advertising, by which the people were made acquainted with the remedy. Second, to the true worth of the remedy, proved by actual experience, showing it to be the only specific for kidney disease, and all diseases growing out of kidney derangements.

Mr. Warner has something the people want, tells them so, then proves it to their satisfaction—success follows as a matter of course.

A Sensational Story.

NEW YORK, April 5.—The story from Newark, Ohio, of the arrest of two foreigners, who confessed that they had been hired to poison a woman named Lavin, on Forty-first street, has been investigated and found to be without a shadow of truth. The alleged foreigners probably want free passage to New York.

EXTENSIVE SMUGGLING OPERATIONS.

A Prominent Firm of New York and Paris Implicated.

NEW YORK, April 5.—The treasury agents have discovered that extensive smuggling operations have been carried on through the firm of Allard & Sons, of Paris and New York, dealers in antique furniture, paintings, tapestries, etc. Fine hangings, valuable oil paintings, and the like, have been brought in concealed in the seats of old furniture, under the backs of old mirrors, etc., thus escaping duty. Many of these valuable articles were subsequently sold, at their full value, to innocent purchasers, including members of the Vanderbilt and Astor families. It is believed that the frauds will aggregate $250,000.

This fact, and the hitherto high standing of Allard & Sons, have made the matter highly sensational, and it is the general topic of conversation to-day. The evidence is regarded as conclusive by the treasury agents. It is not expected that anything further will be done in the matter until Secretary Windom is heard from. The facts in the case as embodied in the report, were sent to Washington last night, and no arrests have yet been made.

At the warehouse of Allard & Sons this morning W. H. Secor, counsel for the Allards, and Roubles, the agent, said: "This whole affair is an outrage on a most respectable firm, and the result will show the Allards innocent of any attempt to defraud the government. It is the work of a discharged employe who has cunningly taken advantage of the fact that all the members of the firm are absent in Paris, preparing for the coming exhibition. They were aware it was coming," continued Secor, "and two weeks ago they cabled Roubles to consult with me in regard to it. They were put on their guard by a letter received from Biossier, the discharged agent and instigator of the present proceedings, and this letter will form an important part of the defense. My clients are prepared to furnish bonds to any amount to secure the government for the alleged duties out of which it is said to have been defrauded."

AMERICAN VINES.

Their Introduction Into France Saves the Vineyards of that Country.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—In a report to the state department, Geo. W. Roosevelt, consul at Bordeaux, gives statistics relative to the wine harvest of France. The vintage of 1888 amounted to 797,707,000 gallons, an increase of 151,874,000 gallons over 1887, although 350,000 gallons less than the average of the last ten years. Much of the good results of the last vintage is due to the American vines. The vineyards of Midi were the first to suffer from the invasion of phylloxera, and the vine culturists of that section were the first to employ American vines to counteract their ravages. Their value was most emphatically demonstrated in the last harvest. In many localities the entire vineyards have been replanted in these vines, upon which the French vines have been grafted. The greater part of these vines were in full bearing in 1888, and not only excited the admiration of all, but an eager desire in many vineyardists who up to this time had not regarded American vines as a means of saving their vineyards. The demand now for American vines is greater than the supply and the nurseries are very soon exhausted. At present nurserymen are busy grafting slips, so that next year the supply will be equal to the demand. It is not too much to say that in the near future the famous vineyards of the Midi will again produce as generously as in the most favored years.

THE SAMOAN CONFERENCE.

The American Commissioners to Sail for Berlin on the 13th Inst.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The American commissioners to the Samoan conference have engaged passage for Europe on the Umbria, which sails from New York on the 13th. Meanwhile, they are frequently at the department of state, consulting with the officials and studying the protocols of the last conference.

The cruiser Atlanta, now at Aspinwall, has been ordered by telegraph to New York. Although subject to future emergencies, it is the present intention to send the Yorktown to New York on the 20th, so that the latest efforts at naval construction may be seen at the centennial celebration. The Yorktown has been formally accepted from the contractors, subject to special reservations of money on account of work yet to be done.

TO BE TRIED.

A Court-Martial of Major George A. Arms, Governor Beaver's Assailant.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The major general commanding the army has decided to recommend to the secretary of war that Major George A. Arms, retired, be tried by court-martial on charges based on his conduct on inauguration day, and his assault upon Governor Beaver.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA
MAKES THE WEAK STRONG

If you are run down or have that tired feeling as a result of overwork or the effect of the changing season, you should take that best of all tonics and blood purifiers, Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies and enriches the blood, tones the stomach, rouses the torpid liver and kidneys, creates an appetite and builds up the system. Thousands who have taken it with benefit, testify that Hood's Sarsaparilla "makes the weak strong."

It is true economy to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla, for "100 Doses One Dollar" is original with and true only of this popular medicine. If you wish to prove this, buy a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and measure its contents. You will find it to hold 100 teaspoonfuls. Now read the directions, and you will find that the average dose for persons of different ages is less than a teaspoonful. This is certainly conclusive evidence of the peculiar strength and economy of

Hood's Sarsaparilla For That Tired Feeling

A fair trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla will convince any reasonable person that it possesses great medicinal merit. We do not claim that every bottle will accomplish a miracle, but we do know that nearly every bottle, taken according to directions, does produce positive benefit. Its peculiar curative power is shown by many remarkable cures.

The Oldest Druggist in Oregon

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is a standard remedy in this 'Wild West,' and sells well from the source of the Willamette to the mouth of the Columbia." FRED. BEAL, 16th and B streets, Portland, Oregon. The oldest druggist in Oregon.

Stronger Every Day

"I have been troubled a great deal with headache, had no appetite, no strength, and felt as mean as any one could, and be about my work. Since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I have not had the headache, my food has relished, and seemed to do me good, and I have felt myself growing stronger every day. I thoroughly believe in Hood's Sarsaparilla." M. A. STEINMAN, 19 Grand Avenue, Grand Rapids, Mich.

"I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine for women, or anyone who has bad blood." JENNIE E. SMITH, East Broad Top, Pa.

Hood's Sarsaparilla. Give it a trial this spring.

"This is to certify that I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla in my family for some time past, and have found it to be a good blood purifier. It has been of great benefit as recommended, and I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who are in want of any medicine of that kind." ROBERT A SMITH, Justice of the Peace, Honesdale, Pa.

Better than for Years

"I have been for years a great sufferer from severe nervous headache, but never found any relief till I began to use Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before the second bottle was gone my headaches were not so severe nor so frequent. I am just beginning the fourth bottle and have not felt so well for years. The confused dizzy feeling in the head is absolutely gone, and my general health is wonderfully improved." MRS. W. S. CARTWRIGHT, Shelter Island, Suffolk Co., N. Y.

SALMON—The London Grocer's Gazette of March 2 says of salmon: The event of the week is the floating of the British Columbia Canning Company, a prospectus of which appears on the opposite page. Further reference is made to the subject editorially. There is an active demand in this market, and on the Pacific coast considerable dealing for the current year's coming catch is going on. All the British Columbia salmon except the Windsor and O-Wee-Kay-No brands (1889 catch) have already been placed by packers, and buyers are ready to take these two at current values. Business in Columbia river salmon has been checked by the extreme ideas of canners, who ask a price equivalent to 33s 6d c. f. i. for flats; to this prime cost a couple of shillings or so must be added before wholesale dealers can quote.

The following is a table of the exports of salmon for the year just ended:

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 5.—The trading in the stock market to-day gave additional evidence of the complete change in the speculative temper which has occurred during the past two days, and the buying to-day was by the most prominent houses, while the sellers were principally the local bear contingent, there being a marked falling off in the selling orders received from out of town, especially from Boston and Chicago. The close was quiet at or near the best prices of the day.

SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE.

SHIPPING NOTES.

Some fears are expressed for the Shalimor, which has been out 164 days from Australia with coal for this port. She left about the time the Suakim and Red Cross, both of which were lost in the recent hurricane. She left before the Martha Fisher, which latter vessel has arrived all safe. The severe hurricane covered a stretch of 1200 miles, and it is feared that the Shalimor may have been in its track.

The Hornby Castle went down the river yesterday, drawing eighteen feet.

The Fiery Cross, now at Astoria, has finished, but has not yet cleared. The captain is in the city settling up matters.

The Otterspool is in the stream, and is waiting for the British India to finish, so that she can go to the gas dock and unload coal.

The British India will finish her coal to-morrow. She already has part of her stiffening for wheat.

The Martha Fisher, disengaged with cargo of coal from Australia, is lying at Astoria, and will have to be lightered up the river.

The Sallie is at Astoria, and came in ballast from Santa Rosalia. She also is disengaged.

The British bark Anamba, 1110 tons, has made the quickest passage to Queenstown of the entire fleet. She left here in company with the Imperial, Andreta and Lancaster Castle on October 15, and made the passage in 107 days; the Andreta taking 154 days, the Lancaster Castle 128 days, and the Imperial 125 days.

The Samoa, now finishing at Astoria, made the fast time from Cape Horn up of forty-four days, which beats the record.

The British ships Argo and Jason seem fated to be as close companions as Jason and his good ship Argonaut during their famous travels. Over a year ago they left Newcastle, Australia, together and arrived at San Pedro about the same time; they left on the same day for Portland, arriving within a day or two of each other; they loaded together and left on the same day, October 31, and arrived at Queenstown, one on February 27, and the other March 1. The future movements of the vessels will be watched with some interest. Another point of relationship between the two ships is their nearness of size, the Jason registering 1512 tons, and the Argo 1490.

"If a woman is pretty,
To me 'tis no matter,
Be she blonde or brunette,
So she lets me look at her."

An unhealthy woman is rarely, if ever, beautiful. The peculiar diseases to which so many of the sex are subject, are prolific causes of pale, sallow faces, blotched with unsightly pimples, dull lustreless eyes and emaciated forms. Women so afflicted can be permanently cured by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; and with the restoration of health comes that beauty which, combined with good qualities of head and heart, makes women angels of loveliness. "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle wrapper and faithfully carried out for many years.

Sectional Hatred.

Pittsburg Dispatch.

It is amusing to read in journals of the stamp of the Nashville American, such pleasant little assertions as that "'Yankee tolerance' is a synonym for all that is little, narrow, arrogant, envious, cruel and malicious," and then to hear Southerners accusing the North of cherishing "sectional hatred."

The Faults and Follies of the Age

Are numerous, but of the latter none is more ridiculous than the promiscuous and random use of laxative pills and other drastic cathartics. These wrench, convulse and weaken both the stomach and the bowels. If Hostetter's Stomach Bitters be used instead of these no-remedies, the result is accomplished without pain and with great benefit to the bowels, the stomach and the liver. Use this remedy when constipation manifests itself, and thereby prevent it from becoming chronic.

A Happy People.

Philadelphia Press.

The prohibitionists of New Jersey are happy. They helped start a democratic legislature, and that body has repealed the law closing saloons on Sunday, as well as the high license law of last year.

YOU CAN CURE A SORE THROAT with the help of Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, a good remedy for Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases.

An office-seeker recently gained admission to the august presence of Postmaster-General Wanamaker. "Have you a war record?" asked the Philadelphia statesman. "Oh, yes," answered the man after a postoffice, "I was born on the day that Fort Sumter was fired on."

"Used Up,"

"Tired Out," "No Energy," and similar expressions, whenever heard, indicate a lack of vital force, which, if not remedied in time, may lead to complete physical and nervous prostration. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine to vitalize the blood, build up the tissues, and make the weak strong.

"For nearly three months I was confined to the house. One of the most celebrated physicians of Philadelphia failed to discover the cause of my trouble or afford relief. I continued in a bad way until about a month ago when I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It acted like a charm. I have gained flesh and strength and feel ever so much better. Shall continue using the Sarsaparilla until completely cured."—John V. Craven, Salem, N. J.

"I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla to be an admirable remedy for the cure of blood diseases. I prescribe it, and it does the work every time."—E. L. Pater, M. D., Manhattan, Kansas.

It Makes You Hungry

"I have used Paine's Celery Compound and it has had a salutary effect. It invigorated the system and I feel like a new man. It improves the appetite and facilitates digestion." J. T. COPELAND, Primus, S. C.

Spring medicine means more now-a-days than it did ten years ago. The winter of 1888-89 has left the nerves all fagged out. The nerves must be strengthened, the blood purified, liver and bowels regulated. Paine's Celery Compound—the Spring medicine of to-day—does all this, as nothing else can. Prescribed by Physicians, Recommended by Druggists, Endorsed by Ministers, Guaranteed by the Manufacturers to be

The Best Spring Medicine.

"In the spring of 1887 I was all run down. I would get up in the morning with so tired a feeling, and was so weak that I could hardly get around. I bought a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and before I had taken it a week I felt very much better. I can cheerfully recommend it to all who need a building up and strengthening medicine." Mrs. B. A. Dow, Burlington, Vt.

Paine's Celery Compound

is a unique tonic and appetizer. Pleasant to the taste, quick in its action, and without any injurious effect, it gives that rugged health which makes everything taste good. It cures dyspepsia and kindred disorders. Physicians prescribe it. $1.00. Six for $5.00. Druggists.

WE HAVE 14,030 PUPILS.

The Increase Over Last Year in Portland Alone Exceeded 900.

Extracts from County Superintendent Wetzell's Annual Report to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The number of children of school age in Multnomah county according to County Superintendent Wetzell's annual report, that is now ready to be sent to State Superintendent McElroy is 14,030, as compared with something over 12,000 for last year. The ratio of school population to the total population is as five to one and on this basis the population of the county is over 70,000.

Superintendent Wetzell spent much time in the preparation of his report, and believes it to be very nearly correct. It is certainly complete and concise. Many of the reports of district clerks he was obliged to return for corrections, and in two or three cases it was necessary for him to apply in person for the information he desired.

The total value of school houses and grounds in the county is given at $514,010; value of furniture $34,255.50; value of apparatus 3,300.50; insurance on school property amounts to $25,271.0. The average monthly salary of male teachers is $59.05; women teachers $40.10.

STATISTICS ABOUT THE SCHOOLS.

There are fifty seven districts in the county. During the year an average of seven and one-half months school was taught in the public school and eight months in the private schools. There are fourteen private schools. During the year eight school buildings were erected making the total number in the county sixty nine. There are fifteen graded schools employing 184 teachers who instruct 6621 children. Then there are nine universities, academies and colleges which are attended by 1125 pupils. The number of legal voters for school purposes is 5074. The county superintendent made fifty two visits and traveled 552 miles. The average per centage of taxes voted and levied for school purposes was .0015 per cent; for school sites and building, purposes .0075 per cent; for teachers salaries .00024 per cent; for incidental purposes .0051 per cent.

Here are some more statistics in tabular form:

	Male	Female	Total
No of children between 4 and 20 years	6921	7110	14 030
Resident pupils enrolled in public schools	3683	3971	7654
No under 6 years	21	33	54
No attending schools outside their districts	68	80	148
Av days attendance	2930	2995	5925
Teachers employed	34	164	198
No. bet. 4 and 20 not attending school	2298	2677	4975
No of teachers in private schools	14	56	70
No of pupils in private schools	528	689	1217

THERE WAS A MARKED INCREASE.

The superintendent in his report inclosed a letter to Supt McElroy from which the following extracts are taken:

There has been a marked increase in the school population over last year. The most of this increase is in the city of Portland. The increase in this city alone is over 900. In East Portland, over 200.

I find that the report of 1888 gave the average salary of male teachers for that year as $73 per month, and of female teachers $59. This was certainly an error for I find that the salaries paid that year were not in excess of those paid during the year just closed.

I also find by the report referred to above that there were 121 Webster's unabridged dictionaries in the schools of the county for the year 1888. After the most careful investigation I can find but fifty-eight. There were only thirteen in the schools of Portland. We have ten in East Portland and the schools of Albina are supplied with six, and there are but twenty nine in the country schools.

I have had much trouble in reconciling the financial statements of many of my clerks. They are certainly very careless in keeping their accounts; however, I think the matter will be remedied through the use of the clerk's record book which has been supplied by the state. This is an admirable book, well adapted to the wants of the country districts and will aid materially in systematizing the business of the school officers.

The series of local teachers meetings inaugurated last October has created much interest in educational matters throughout the county. Teachers and parents are becoming more enthusiastic over the work of their schools, and a spirit of emulation is springing up which will not fail to produce good results. I have succeeded admirably in securing the attendance at these meetings of the schools officers and patrons of the schools and in districts where it was convenient I have encouraged the teachers to prepare a short literary programme for an evening session. I usually occupy about thirty minutes during the evening discussing school matters which apply immediately to the wants and needs of that section.

In the matter of issuing permits I have adopted a plan which I think worthy of consideration. I have refused to examine applicants for permits who have not a school in view or the promise of a school, provided they can pass the required examination. As a result I have issued but nineteen of such papers. You are aware, perhaps that many teachers make application for permits who have no intention of using them at the time.

NOTES ABOUT THE SCHOOLS.

District No 32, Hillsdale, had twelve months school during the year.

The highest salary paid outside the graded schools is $75 per month, and it is received by Professor J P Looney, of Fulton.

Three districts, Nos. 2, 20, 26, began the new school year with no money on hand. Two Nos. 37 and 51 had no money on hand when the year closed. Thirty five districts did not levy a special tax, the funds received from the county and state being sufficient to run the schools.

The clerks of thirteen districts received no compensation for their services but the clerks of several of the poorest districts received a handsome compensation for little or no work.

Some of the districts will evidently have to go into the banking business to dispose of surplus cash. Many of them pay their teachers very meager salaries.

Three districts were created. No 24 between East Portland and Sellwood; No 9 composed of the south half of 23, and No 6 formed of unoccupied territory lying just outside the city limits on the southwest, together with part of district 14.

STREET HAWKERS AND FAKIRS

At Present the City Is Pretty Well Supplied With These Sort of Venders

There is an unusual number of fakirs on the streets nowadays. A constant stream of them is coming and going to and from the city all the time, selling all sorts of things of no particular use. One fellow has a satchel full of puzzles made of two pieces of wire which he sells by the hundred at five cents each. From the avidity with which they are bought up, it would seem that the problem of how the two crooked pieces of wire are to be separated was a matter of intense interest to the public.

On the next corner is a fellow trying to sell fire lighters. A piece of wire with a ball of some porous substance at the end forms the lighter. The porous ball being soaked in oil is lighted with a match and then placed under the kindlings in the stove. Men pay but little attention to these things probably because they do not build the fires in the morning and besides it would occur to almost any man that having lighted a match he might as well light the fire at once as to light a lighter and light the fire with it.

Another fellow has a gob of some kind of pitchy substance which he proclaims to be the best fire lighter in the world.

Another more pretentious fakir vends alleged mineral water, warranted to cure all the ills that flesh is heir to.

On the next corner a squabby fellow with a crutch under one arm is selling an arrangement of wires and springs for wiping out lamp chimneys and getting corks out of bottles. It is a good thing, theoretically but does not amount to much practically.

On another corner is a fellow with an electric machine prepared to shock the community.

Of the accordion players and hand-organ men and peanut and candy and popcorn venders, and knife dealers and fellows who go all over town selling everything imaginable, there is no end.

THE PRE EMPTION LAW NOT REPEALED

Notwithstanding that a communication from Mr W T Burney, register of the land office at Oregon City, explaining the change in the pre emption law was published in these columns a few days since, numerous inquiries continue to be made concerning the matter. The pre-emption law and commutation clause of the homestead law remain in force. It was only the clause providing that lands should be sold at private cash entry that was repealed.

"IF THEREFORE," ETC.—MATT. VI. 23.

PORTLAND, Or., Apr 1.

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Two thousand years ago the enemies of Jesus the great teacher, tried to crush the truth to earth with the sword. Two hundred years ago Cotton Mather and his followers tried to crush the truth to earth by burning, hanging and drowning.

To-day the priesthood and their followers would crush the truth to earth with the pen. But thanks to the founders of this republic, we can worship God according to the dictates of our judgment. The persecution of any religious society only tends to bind them together more closely.

In times of peace the soldiers becomes lax in discipline. As soon as a shot comes from the enemy the long lines are formed and every man stands ready to meet the enemy. The laws of God are unchangeable, the same yesterday, to-day and forever. Any man who says we are in the wrong, has to deny facts as given in the Bible.

Millions of spiritualists in this world know by personal experience that they are in the right. No power on earth can convince them to the contrary. It is only ignorance and superstition that is keeping so many in darkness. C

FIVE DIRECTORS ELECTED

Oregon Immigration Board Annual Election—The Successful Candidates

Pursuant to a call of the president of the Oregon immigration board the annual meeting of subscribers for the election of five directors was held in the rooms of the board on Ash street at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

President C H Dodd called the meeting to order and in a few preliminary remarks stated its object.

"The ten members of the board of immigration," he said, "are chosen annually. Five are elected by the subscribers to the immigration fund and the remaining five are appointed by the Board of Trade."

The members whose terms have expired are D Solis Cohen, F K Arnold, I W Baird, T A Wood and William Waddell.

The election of their successors was at once proceeded with. Eleven nominations were made, and voting was done by ballot. There was some misunderstanding at first as to the power of each voter in casting his vote. The impression had gained ground that each man was to have one vote and that all votes were to count alike. This method of balloting, however was decided out of order and the vote was taken on a basis of subscriptions, whereby each man was entitled to one vote for each dollar per month contributed. G D Ganson and S S Clark had sent their votes by proxy and no objection being made they were counted the same as the others.

The balloting resulted in the election of C E Sitton, F D White, E I Sherman, W M Killingsworth and T F Osborne who were declared duly elected members of the board for the coming year.

Upon motion of T A Wood the vote was made unanimous.

A vote of thanks was returned the retiring members of the board for their attention to and untiring zeal in the work during the term of their office and the meeting then adjourned.

After the adjournment of the meeting President Dodd called a special meeting of the board of directors to exchange congratulations and briefly discuss a few matters of general interest.

The chairman spoke of the successful work of the past year the great good accomplished and the encouraging outlook for the future. The results of a little judicious advertising he said are being seen on all sides—in business in the improvements of agricultural lands, and in the increase of population.

Ellis G Hughes brought up the matter of subscriptions. He stated that the public have been very liberal in their subscriptions, and continue to grow more so as they become better acquainted with the work being done by the board. Quite a number, who before gave grudgingly, have doubled their subscription during the past year. The subscription book shows that amounts ranging all the way from $1 to $50 per month are given by subscribers. Mr Hughes also remarked that if more money was annually subscribed, it could be judiciously expended in immigration work with good results. To increase the funds and attain such results he suggested that a solicitor be employed to canvass some of the back streets. At present the larger per cent. of the subscribers are business men on the two or three principal business streets. Those living out a ways, and even a large number in business a little back from the business center, have been entirely neglected. Many of them would, no doubt, be glad to contribute something to assist in the work of bringing people to this state, and consequently stimulate all branches of industry and commerce and increase the general prosperity.

In accordance with the suggestions by Mr Hughes a committee of two was appointed to open negotiations with some solicitor capable of doing this work. Mr Hughes and the chairman were placed on this committee.

Some dissatisfaction having been expressed regarding the hour of holding the regular meetings of the board, an informal talk was held to ascertain the individual preferences of each. Four o'clock was considered rather late for meeting hour, so hereafter meetings will be held at 3:30 o'clock.

The president of the Board of Trade next Monday will appoint five members of that body as directors of the board of immigration to succeed the five who retire. These appointments will complete the board who will serve the coming year.

A RICH REAL ESTATE STORY

Is Told on a Couple of Smart Alecks From St Paul and Minneapolis

Who came to Portland to invest a couple of hundred thousand dollars in real estate. One of our brightest real estate men wore his patience out for a couple of days driving over the city and suburbs with them, they all the time repeating the stale old cry, "Your property is all too high, too high." Finally, in disgust, our real estate man drove them to a choice corner in Couch and said to them: "Now if you can get this corner for $6000 I am fully confident that you can make some money on it." The answer came, "Well, now! What do you base your opinion on; we cannot see any money in it?" The answer came, "Well, if you can secure this property for $6000 I am sure you will make some money on it as I have had a standing offer of $16,000 on it for the past three weeks. Now sirs if you want to see any more Portland real estate you will have to get some one else to show it to you that has more time than I have." Now, this is not the way we do with lots in the Second Electric Addition, on Hawthorne avenue. We take purchasers out in a carriage and show the lots and they pick out the one they like, and we give them five years to pay for it in payments of $10 down and $10 a month without interest. This is what we call liberality, and while we do not guarantee it, we verily believe that these lots will be worth $2000 each before the last $10 installment is required. The Portland Real Estate Company, 4½ Washington street.

A FINE MARINE PAINTING

There is on exhibition at the Art store, 108 Third street, Abington block, a fine marine painting, from the easel of Cleveland Rockwell entitled "Off the Straits of Fuca." The picture represents the entrance to the straits with the bold rugged shores of forest clad Cape Flattery on the right hand, and separated by a narrow passage the rocky walls of Tatoosh island surmounted with its lighthouse gleaming white in the afternoon sun. The high mountains of Vancouver's island, across whose broad slopes sunlight and shadow seem to be chasing each other through a dreamy haze close to the sea horizon and melt away into the distance far away up the straits. The sea is full of action, under a strong breeze from off the land and in the foreground a noble ship, under shortening sail, instinct with life and motion, is dashing over the billows. The tender sky through which the fleecy clouds are lifting under the influence of a strong breeze, is entirely in harmony with the sea. The painting is full of the fresh and breezy life of the ocean, illustrative of the lines: "A wet sheet and a flowing sea and a wind that follows fast," and has been greatly admired by all who have seen it. We suppose it will soon be withdrawn to adorn the walls of some one of our art loving millionaires, or those of Tacoma or Seattle.

WORK OF SWEET CHARITY.

Proceedings of the Annual Meeting of the Ladies' Relief Society

Reports of the Secretary, Treasurer and Physician—The Election of Officers for the Ensuing Year—Prosperous Condition

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Relief Society was held Tuesday afternoon, Mrs M H Holbrook presiding. The secretary read the following report:

THE SECRETARY'S REPORT.

To the Officers and Members of the Ladies' Relief Society:—In accordance with the custom of my most able predecessor I have the honor to submit to you the following report of the condition of the society for the year ending March 31, 1889. For the sake of brevity I have embodied in it the report of the advisory committee.

During the year the society has held twelve regular and two special meetings, with an average attendance of twenty members at each meeting. The advisory board has met every Friday of each month, with an extra meeting, and transacted the general business of the Home, and given permits for the admission of children.

The membership of the society numbered ninety-eight at the beginning of the current year. One member has withdrawn and six new ones have been admitted, making a total membership of 105.

The ward visitors reported twenty five sick or destitute families as having been assisted during the year. The advisory committee have investigated and aided ten additional cases. They have also considered eighty seven applications for admission of children into the Home, seventy five of whom have been received during the year, notwithstanding the fact that presence of measles and scarlet fever at times excluded admissions. Fifty eight have been dismissed, eight of whom have had homes procured for them. One child died of membranous croup, and eighty five still remain in the Home. Mr Ira L Powers has rendered most kind and valuable assistance in securing homes for children without parents or proper guardians.

Each additional year of the very efficient matronship of Mrs Woods more fully reveals her inestimable worth and conscientious devotion to her duties and to the little ones intrusted to her care and increases the esteem and gratitude of all connected with the society. To her patience, motherly tenderness and careful nursing together with the skill and attention of the Drs Nichols is due the fact that out of the many who have been afflicted with those dread diseases of childhood but one has been claimed by the angel of death. To the Drs Nichols is due the heartfelt gratitude of this society for their unvarying kindness and devoted attention to the children in their hours of illness and suffering. For many years they have given their services gratuitously and shown as hearty an interest in the welfare of the little ones as any one connected with the home.

At the beginning of this fiscal year forty five children were sick at one time with the measles. This made manifest the urgent need of a proper provision for isolating the first cases of any contagious or infectious disease and thus preventing its spread among so many. For several years Mrs H Thielsen, one of the most efficient and honored members of the advisory board has cherished a scheme for a hospital annex but the want of sufficient funds has heretofore proven a barrier to any active steps toward realization. Thanks, however, to the generosity of a liberal public and the many friends of the Home, this much needed addition will soon be a reality.

I find it difficult to give expression to all that is due Mr William Wadhams, whose report I have the pleasure of submitting to you. To his continuous exertions in behalf of the Home his thoughtfulness, good judgment and generosity are attributable many of the comforts and necessities which have been added during the year. He is never unmindful of the least thing that might contribute to the comfort and happiness of Mrs. Woods and the children, and through his exertions we have secured liberal donations of money which has paid for much needed improvements and repairs. He merits, and I am sure, receives the earnest thanks and sincere gratitude of this society.

To the generous-hearted citizens of Portland, who have responded so cheerfully and liberally to all appeals in behalf of the Home, who seem so appreciative of the good work of this society, we extend our sincere thanks also a cordial invitation to visit our Home, and judge for themselves the merit of our non sectarian institution whose present prosperous condition is largely due to their unselfish liberality.

To our treasurer, Mrs. Theodore Wygant, who for nearly seventeen years has so faithfully and promptly discharged the responsible duties of her office, we also owe our thanks, and that she is thoroughly appreciated our annual vote amply testifies. Following is her statement of the receipts and disbursements for the year ending March 31, 1889:

PHYSICIANS' REPORT.

The following is a report of the Drs Nichols who have attended to the medical wants of the children at the home:

Another twelve months has brought us to the time when we are expected to submit our annual report to your society. We would again thank you for your continued co-operation in all hygenic and sanitary matters, and congratulate the society, not forgetful, and with reverence, thanking a kind Providence for the general health of the Home during the past year. There have been some epidemic as well as contagious diseases during the past year. There were 48 cases of measles, 3 of capillary bronchitis, several cases of ulcerative tonsillitis, 5 of pneumonia, 2 of typhoid fever, several intermittents, 2 of membranous croup (one fatal), 1 severe case of rheumatic fever, also 2 of scarlet fever. Had it not been for the strict care and vigilance of your most efficient matron in isolating the last case of scarlet fever we should most certainly have had many more. Here again, as before, we saw the great want of a suitable hospital for such cases. Although the Home is not a hospital we constantly feel the need of better facilities, as we are constantly in danger by the admission of some recent child. We are much pleased to hear that the ground is already broken for the foundation of a suitable building for hospital use, and hope it may be constructed in such a manner as to give all the advantages and comforts of modern invention, especially heating and ventilation.
